

To reach new agreement

City gets 60-day extension on police services

The impending termination of law enforcement protection by the Wayne County Sheriff's Department to the City of Romulus was extended another 60 days by the county to give both sides time to negotiate a new contract.

The city and county have been at odds for several months over how much money is owed to the Sheriff's Department for police services and how much money should be paid monthly for current services. The county maintains the city owes close to $1 million for past police services.

The new extension was obtained with the help of State Rep. Edward Mahalak, who entered the impasse when it looked as if termination of police services was imminent. His talks with Sam Turner, chairman of the county board, reportedly bought about the extension.

Dennis Nystrom, senior partner of Jenkins, Nystrom and Sterlacci of Southfield, and the city's corporation counsel said the city will begin paying $142,645 per month until a new contract can be worked out.

Should the monthly charge be determined as more, the city will pay the difference. If less, the city will be given credit for the overpayment, he said.

Mayor William M. Oakley has contended that the county has not submitted proper billing for police services. He has made several requests for itemized and documented billing, including a personal visit to the Board of Commissioners, to obtain such paperwork.

The county, claiming it has to pay police officers more money under new contracts with their union, began charging Romulus additional monthly charges for police protection, according to Oakley.

Nystrom said it is his opinion that the old contract is still in effect under terms in the document and will stay in effect until a new pact is worked out.

Last Thursday, a letter from George Cross, corporation counsel for the county, informed the city it has another 60 days to work out a new contract with the Sheriff's Department.

Recently, the county adopted a resolution in its 1979-80 budget requiring Romulus to make 60-day advance payments for police services, or face termination of those services by laying off police officers assigned to the city.

Claiming that advance payments have not been received nor have police officers assigned to Romulus been laid off, the county board last month recommended the following action:

— The nature and quantity of police services to the City of Romulus be what is stipulated in the contract proposed by the sheriff on April 18, 1979;

— The county Board of Auditors determine the exact charges for such services;

— The County Corporation Counsel prepare a revised contract incorporating the above provisions and the 60-day pre-payment clause and submit these to the sheriff and the Board of Auditors for their respective reviews; that upon concurrence of all parties, the contract be submitted to Romulus for acceptance, and subject to an agreement by Romulus, to reimburse the county for amounts due for prior services;

— The police services to Romulus be discontinued, if a formal contract is not executed by Feb. 21, 1980, and Romulus does not pay in full all arrearages due as of that date, with interest, for police services rendered.

However, the threat of termination of police services again has been put off with the county's latest offer to give the city 60 more days in which to work out a new contract.

Following strike

District will layoff some 50 teachers

By BOB AMEEN
ANP Staff Writer

As the strike of 344 Romulus public school teachers entered its 10th day today, word Monday from Marvin Fischer, interim superintendent, indicated some 50 teachers face layoff once a new contract settlement is reached.

Fischer said the school board's and administration's best estimate of what it would take to balance the budget once a new teacher pact is agreed upon will mean about 50 teachers with bachelor degrees will be axed.

The Romulus school district and three others — Gibraltar, Southgate and Woodhaven — all went on strike March 10, idling approximately 1,100 teachers and some 24,000 students after contract negotiations reached an impasse.

The four districts are members of the newly-formed Wayne County — Michigan Education Association-National Education Association (WC-MEA-NEA) which encompasses 14 school districts. By banding together last year, the new organization hopes to have more clout at the bargaining table.

Fischer said the board's latest offer of a 26 percent salary increase over the next three years was rejected by the teachers' negotiators.

The Roman has learned that the WC-MEA-NEA is asking for a 34 percent salary boost over a 3-year period.

"The difference between what the union demands and what the board can afford is substantial for this school year, considering our estimate of income for the next two school years," Fischer explained.

The superintendent said letters sent to teachers reminding them that their strike is illegal under Michigan law produced little in the way of favorable response.

"About four or five teachers have returned to work after our letter to them," he said.

A letter and question and answer sheet sent to residents of the Romulus school district also advised that state law requires 180 days of school for all students and that days lost as a result of the current strike must be made up.

"If lost days are not made up, the Romulus school system will be penalized a substantial amount of money in state aid," Fischer explained.

He said the already strained school budget situation would be made even more difficult by any lost days resulting from the teacher strike.

In the letter to school district residents, the school board stated: "The board is deeply concerned about the cost of operating your school district, as well as the negative impact a strike has on our children. Therefore, we have indicated our willingness to continue bargaining and have sought the assistance of a state mediator to reach a strike settlement."

The letter also explained that other issues remain to be resolved other than economic items, including those pertaining to layoff and recall, a no-strike clause and preferential hiring.

"Although non-economic issues are important, they do not appear to be the reason for the strike," the letter stated.

Investigation by The Roman revealed that the board's offer of a 26 percent salary hike over three years was broken down into an 8 percent jump the first year and a 9 percent salary hike for each of the remaining two years.

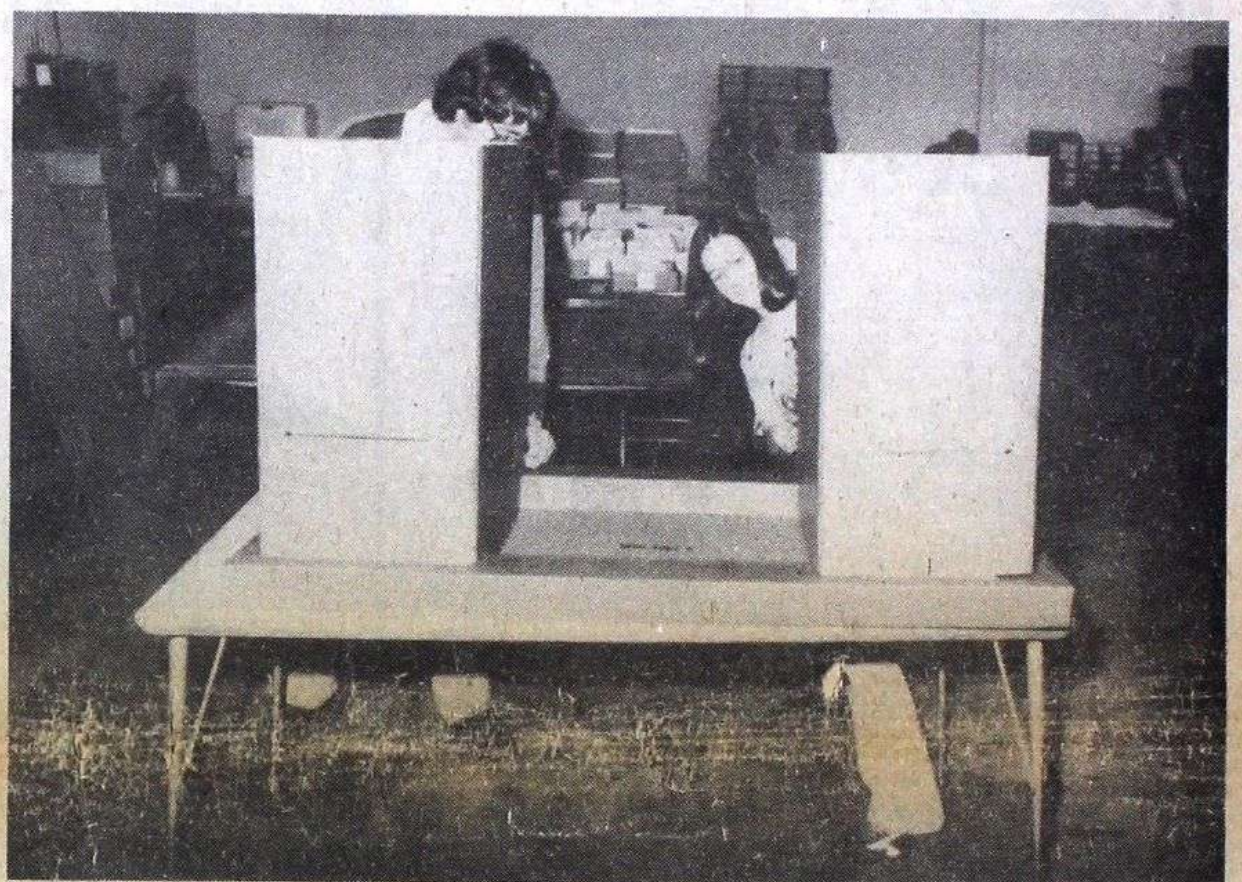

It was learned that the union's demands of a 34 percent salary increase over three years represented a 10 percent salary hike for the first year and a 12 percent salary increase for each of the next two years.

Projections of how current teachers' salaries would increase after three years under the board's 26 percent offer and the 34 percent demand of the teachers' union are:

(1) Beginning teachers with bachelor degrees and no experience currently make $12,239 per year. Their salary would go to $15,705 per year under the board's offer and to $16,888 per year under the union's demand after three years.

(2) Teachers with bachelor degrees and 10 years of experience at the top of the salary scale now receive $20,638 per year. Under the

Putting it together

Two young employees of the U.S. Census Bureau put together one of the $8 cardboard desks to be used by regional district office in Dearborn and 408 other such offices throughout the nation. About 65,000 of the lightweight desks will be used and will save taxpayers millions of dollars over cost of their metal counterparts. Designed specially for the Census effort, the desks will last up to six months. — ANP photo.

Census employees ready for 1980's 'nose count'

By BOB AMEEN
ANP Staff Writer

Fast approaching is March 28, the day that the U.S. Census Bureau will mail out questionnaires to every known household in the nation.

At 15001 Commerce Drive in Dearborn, some 185 census employees are bustling like bees, setting up special cardboard desks, tables, files, bins and chairs. From this regional district office of the Census Bureau and 408 more like it across the nation will come the questionnaires which every American resident will be asked to fill out.

Another 600 census workers will round out the office staff, according to Elaine Gregory, district manager. The Dearborn office will serve most of Western Wayne County and the cities of Dearborn, Dearborn Heights, Garden City, Westland south of Cherry Hill Road and part of Canton Township.

Since opening her office Feb. 4, Mrs. Gregory and her staff have been busy assembling some 37,000 pounds of cardboard into lightweight desks and bins specially designed for the 1980 census effort.

Weighing only a few pounds, the special cardboard desks cost $8 and can support a weight of 150 pounds and will last from four to six months. All census offices will use the 65,000 specially designed desks which were created to save taxpayers millions of dollars as the most extensive census in U.S. history gets underway.

Five of every six households in the nation will receive a short form questionnaire, which will take about 15 minutes to complete. The remaining households will get the long form, which will take an estimated 45 minutes to fill out.

Census officials across the nation are embarked on a huge educational effort in informing the general public of the vital importance of filling out the census questionnaires.

Information gleaned from the questionnaires will be used to determine Congressional apportionment, federal revenue sharing, grants, public works, school districts, city and county governments, transportation systems, housing programs, shopping centers, sites and industrial plant locations throughout the nation.

Where is he?

A man, shot by a Huron Township market owner after police said he broke into the establishment, has yet to turn himself into authorities after he recovered from his wounds.

The incident happened on Feb. 29, at about 11 p.m., when Edward Gerwatowski, owner of the M & E Market in New Boston, heard noises coming from his store. He lives in the rear of the building, according to Det. Ed Lindberg of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department.

He investigated and found two young adults inside his store. When one of the young men failed to heed his warning to stop, Gerwatowski reportedly shot him with a handgun.

Although critically hurt, according to hospital authorities, the youth recovered completely and was released. Lindberg said he has failed to turn himself in and is being sought by police.

The second adult was arraigned and examined in 34th District Court in Romulus on a charge of breaking and entering a business, the detective said. The third suspect, a juvenile, has been petitioned to the juvenile court, he said.

Lindberg said names of the two young adults were being withheld at this time.

Matching grant sought to buy Shady Hollow

Pre-applications for matching grants from the state for three outdoor recreational facilities, including one for the purchase of Shady Hollow Golf Course, were approved last week by Romulus City Council.

The council followed the recommendation of Pat Hogan, community development director, to submit a pre-application before the March 15 deadline for $750,000, half of the $1.5 million purchase price of the 18-hole golf course located at Wayne and Wick roads.

Pre-applications are made to the State Department of Natural Resources (DNR), which administers federal grants for outdoor recreational facilities.

Hogan told the Roman that the city's half of the purchase price hopefully can be made from "the proper combination of federal funds, state assistance and revenue sharing."

Clerk Leonard J. Folmar said the city has been negotiating for several months with Phil Northern, one of the course's two owners. He said the owners are at retirement age and are anxious to sell, adding that the city could use the golf course as a producer of revenue.

Folmar indicated that the city has not determined whether it may use the property for future housing development.

In his recommendation to Mayor William M. Oakley and council, Hogan also emphasized that Shady Hollow could be purchased as a revenue producer for the city at no additional cost to taxpayers.

Hogan said acquisition of the course could assure that the present use of the property remains, assist in the overall goal of providing and expanding recreational services to city residents, act as a catalyst toward the overall development of the Wick Road property from Wayne Road to Merriman Road, and produce additional revenues to the city.

Hogan's recommendation also included pre-applications for matching grants for Cypress Tot-Lot development and expansion of Elmer Johnson Park.

Hogan said $10,000 from the block grant application submitted by the city will not be sufficient to develop the park. In view of the city's poor financial condition, Hogan said, the pre-application to the DNR would be a good move on the city's part.

The grant for Elmer Johnson Park would permit the city to buy land from a resident whose land adjoins the park for future expansion of the park's facilities.

County will sue state for 'illegal withholding' of funds

A lawsuit against the State of Michigan has been authorized by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners seeking more than $17 million that the county claims the state is withholding illegally.

The board approved the action on March 6, upon recommendation of the County Board of Auditors with concurrence of the Office of Corporation Counsel. In their report to the board, the auditors said that the state has failed to pay $11.8 million for 1978 certified inventory loss, $4.5 million for income tax revenue sharing for the yearly quarter ended Sept. 30, 1979, and an additional $26,000 distribution of income tax funds that the state said it will hold up until "early in March", but which have not been received.

According to the auditors in their report, the state is required by Feb. 1 of each year to pay the certified inventory loss credit, based on a formula involving state equalized value and property tax rates. The demand by state statute compensates counties for loss of revenue under legislation enacted in 1975, which provides incentives for maintaining and attracting more tax and more business for the state.

Board Chairman Samuel A. Turner said the state is withholding the funds over disputed billing of the cost of inpatient mental health care. Turner said the county is immediately willing to pay its "just obligations," whenever the state bills properly, but that the suit is necessary in the meantime to collect funds deserving the county while the billing dispute is being resolved.

Turner said in a letter to Gov. William G. Milliken following the board approval of the suit: "I am recommending that the county initiate legal action, but I do this reluctantly because I wish to work cooperatively with you through appropriate officials and agencies of the state and county."

"However, we are forced into having a court determination of the issues because we cannot get a workable agreement."

"Our feeling is that the state can put us in a precarious position by withholding funds in actions not authorized by law, and it is clear that these funds should be paid to local governments without restriction."

"We have to make this challenge now, to protect ourselves against caprice and vulnerability at a time during our point of lowest cash-flow, when the state could throw the county into bankruptcy at its own whim."

"Besides," he continued, "the board cannot stand idly by and allow the rights of citizens of Wayne County to be eroded. It is incumbent on the Board of Commissioners to do everything within their power to reduce opportunities for the State to act capriciously."

Corporation Counsel George H. Cross said the state's withholding income tax revenue sharing funds is "clearly illegal" and a decision which a "first-year law student" would condemn.

"The law clearly points out, said Cross, "any other statute notwithstanding, the state shall pay."

Cross said he expects to file three separate suits—one each for withholding inventory loss credit, the mental health billing dispute and revenue sharing denial—and that he already is prepared to contest the revenue sharing question.

He said he will meet next week with county auditors and treasury officials to determine precise transaction dates and actual dollar amounts each owes the other on balance and proceed immediately to court.

On the mental health billing dispute, Cross said the state does not bill in enough detail to legally justify payment.

"They simply don't provide us with individual billing," he explained. "We've asked them a dozen times or so, with no compliance. One way to get that is to go to court."

The chief threat of the state withholding action is that the county has already budgeted for the $17 million under consideration. The county is in "double-trouble", if the state is allowed to retain those funds.

Real cost of gas rationing would be project's price tag

In the event of a severe and sustained petroleum shortage, gasoline rationing could become a necessary evil. But because of the sweeping powers rationing bestows upon government, any such plan must be very carefully thought out, according to the Highway Users Federation.

The U.S. Department of Energy (DOE) is proposing a standby gasoline rationing plan which would go into effect, if there were a 20 percent shortfall in supplies of gasoline, diesel fuel and home heating oil (just how the shortfall would be measured remains unclear).

In commenting on the proposal, the Highway Users Federation said: "Because of the plan's far-reaching effects, the public has a right to know exactly what the department contemplates doing."

The plan would cost $2-$5 billion a year to administer. It would require 5,000 additional federal employees plus another 5,000 state and local employees. But the taxpayer would pay a far greater price by allowing DOE to redistribute income through a coupon sales scheme, HUF believes.

DOE would give coupons worth about 40 gallons of gasoline a month to owners of personal vehicles. Anybody not needing the coupons could sell them—for whatever price they could get—to those who need gasoline. DOE estimates the coupons would sell for about $1.60 a gallon, which would entitle the holder to buy gasoline at the going retail price. (Right now, the cost at the pump, plus the cost of a purchased coupon, would mean the motorist would be paying something in the neighborhood of $2.80 per gallon, HUF calculates.)

In effect, the government would be godfathering the transfer of money from individuals who need to drive a lot to those who rely less on the automobile, a spokesman said.

If, as DOE forecasts, coupons could be sold for $1.60 a gallon, 40 coupons a month would be worth $64, a nifty $768 annual bonus for an individual or family who could muster 40 coupons a month to sell, the spokesman added. The sellers would be subsidized by individuals or families who needed extra coupons. For example, many Eastern urbanites could be expected to reap a windfall at the expense of Westerners who don't have alternative transportation available. With 143 million licensed drivers in the country, the transfer of cash and coupons would become a massive cottage industry.

"Passenger cars consume only about one-fourth of every barrel of oil used in the United States. To restrain the use of that quarter barrel, the government is asking highway users to pay an extraordinarily high price," the spokesman said. "But the highway user is not the only one who would pay dearly. All Americans would be permitting DOE to set national priorities by deciding who would and would not be exempt from rationing, a far-reaching power to surrender."

"Perhaps the most crucial point is that once rationing has been triggered, DOE's plan contains no mechanism for shutting it off. With a vast, new bureaucracy in place, plus nationwide speculation and profiteering in coupon sales, the pressures to continue unjustified rationing regardless of supplies would be enormous."

America's only experience with gasoline rationing occurred during World War II. Rationing was initially imposed in 1942 because of transportation problems and the need to conserve rubber (a nationwide 35 mph speed limit also was imposed to save rubber).

It was also one of the very few instances of gasoline rationing in any industrial country not undergoing military invasion, occupation, or postwar rebuilding.

Junior high bands awarded No. 1

March 8 marked a memorable day in the history of the Romulus Community Schools. The Symphonic Bands of both North and South Junior High schools were awarded coveted first division rating at the District XII Band Festivals. (District XII of the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association encompasses Wayne, Washtenaw and Monroe counties.)

The South Symphonic Band, conducted by Lynn Cleary, performed in Class A Junior High at the Plymouth Central Middle School. At the festival, three judges rated the concert music (prepared selections) and one judge rated the sight reading where bands must perform two selections at sight.

The South Symphonic Band received two first division ratings and one second division rating in the concert portion, along with a first division rating in sight reading.

Director Cleary reported that "the band performed far better than it ever has before. This was a magnificent performance."

The South Symphonic Band was one of only two bands to receive a first division rating at Plymouth. A total of 15 bands performed.

The North Concert and Symphonic Bands performed at the Ida Senior High School. The concert band performed in Class D Junior High and received two first division ratings and one second division rating in the concert portion, along with a third division rating in sight reading for a final second division rating.

Director Richard Kruse noted that that was an outstanding accomplishment since most of the students in the concert band are first-year players.

The North Symphonic Band performed in Class B Junior High. The class entered by a band is determined by the enrollment of the school. The North Symphonic Band received two first division ratings and one second division rating in the concert portion, along with a second division rating in sight reading for its final first division rating.

Both schools may participate in the state band festival in May. Hopefully, the education situation in Romulus will allow this to take place, Krause said. Residents of Romulus can be very proud of the way these 190 students represented Romulus and the Romulus Community Schools at these festivals, he added.

"The students, their parents, the teachers and administrators at both schools have made this wonderful event take place," Krause explained.

Mahalak will seek 9th term

State Rep. Edward E. Mahalak (D-Romulus) has announced he will be a candidate for re-election to a ninth term in the legislature.

Mahalak has represented the 38th House District, which includes Romulus, ever since it was created in 1964. The district covers part of Wayne County and more than half of Monroe County.

He presently is a member of the House Appropriations Committee, and is chairman of two of its subcommittees on transportation and veterans and military affairs. He also is a member of the subcommittee on computers, state police and general government.

"I am grateful for the wonderful support I have received over the years from the citizens of the 38th District, many of whom have urged me to run for another term. Because of my experience, seniority and seat on the appropriations committee, I feel that I can effectively serve as their voice in the Legislature," Mahalak said.

Before being appointed to the appropriations committee in 1975, Mahalak served four terms as chairman of the veterans and military affairs committee and one term as its vice-chairman. He has also served on eight other House standing committees: judiciary, corrections, public safety, public utilities, consumers and agriculture, drainage, roads and bridges, and state affairs, and has served on numerous special study committees.

Mahalak noted that one reason he is seeking another term is the need for experienced legislators to give balance to the next session of the legislature.

Mahalak also will be honored for his 25 years of continuous service in state and local government at a fund raiser party at 7:30 p.m. May 2 at UAW Local 157 Hall, 29841 Van Born Road, Romulus.

The hot dog and beer party, sponsored by the Committee to Re-elect Edward E. Mahalak, will include music, entertainment and prizes. The donation is $10 per person.

A native of Wayne County, Mahalak served as a justice of the peace for 10 years before being elected to the legislature. He served in the Air Force during World War II.

He is a member of the St. Aloysius Church in Romulus and its Ushers Club, Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 9568, Polish Legion of American Veterans Post 7, and the Romulus Kiwanis Club.

He is married and the father of two children.

board's offer, their salaries would go to $26,482 and to $28,477 per year under the union's demand after three years.

(3) Teachers with master degrees and 10 years of experience at the top of the salary scale now receive $24,238 per year. Under the board's offer, their salaries would go to $31,101 per year and to $33,444 per year under the union's demand after three years.

(4) Teachers with an education specialist degree beyond the master's degree and with 10 years of experience at the top of the salary schedule now receive about $26,000 per year. Under the board's offer their salaries would go to $33,362 per year and to $35,876 under the union's demand after three years.

'...then their demands for uniform salaries... would make sense.'

Fischer said that of the school district's total complement of 144 teachers, 198, or more than half, have master's degrees and 130 have bachelor degrees.

He said Romulus ranks about half way down the list in payment of teacher salaries among area school districts.

He rapped the concept being pushed by the WCMEA-NEA that joining forces by the 14-member school districts would help in settling teacher contracts favorable to their cause.

"The new teacher union group does not take into consideration the respective ability of each member school district to pay," he commented.

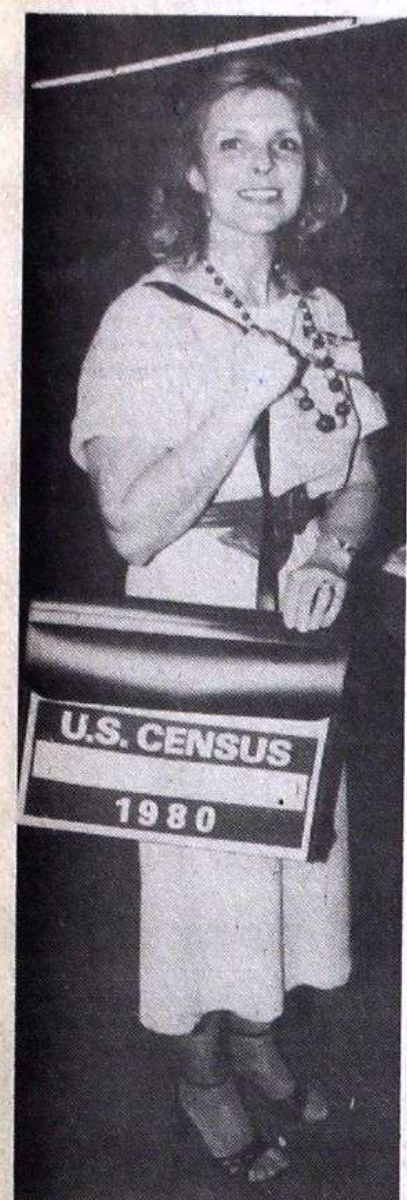

Fischer said the union's concept would be okay if "uniform sources of revenue" existed in all of the 14 school districts.

"If that was the case, then their demands for uniform salaries and benefits would make sense," he said.

Although school officials would not comment, it appears that should the Romulus school district agree to a teacher contract whose cost exceeds its ability to pay, then more millage will have to be asked for from school district taxpayers.

Residents desiring updated information on the status of the teachers strike and contract negotiations can call 941-1052. A taped message will relay current information and also tell when school will resume should the strike be settled.

Teachers are picketing at various locations, moving from one school to another and periodically to the school administration building on Grant Street.

Under Title 13 of the U.S. Code, all information compiled by the census is confidential, with strict penalties for any violations.

Mrs. Gregory asked that those persons who have applied for census jobs to be patient as peak employment will not begin until April. She added that anyone interested in applying for a census job is asked to call the recruiting department at 336-2977 and leave their name, address and telephoning number. Applicants will be told where to go for testing. Jobs will pay from $3.55 to $4 per hour, with some jobs being paid mileage expenses.

The 1980 census is expected to come up with a U.S. population of more than 220 million persons, plus information of such magnitude that previous censuses pale in comparison.

National censuses are taken every 10 years as specified in the U.S. Constitution. Failure of a sizable number of residents in any given area to fill out questionnaires could result in the loss of many millions of dollars in funds, grants, programs and other services which depend upon population count.

David Erlandson, Michigan representative of the U.S. Brewers Association presents Romulus Beautification Committee members Midge Prybyla (right) and Carla Barker with promotional materials used in a national litter reduction campaign sponsored by the Brewers Association.

Called Positive Litter Reduction, the program has enabled 12 U.S.

cities to save thousands of dollars in sanitation costs and helped reduce litter by as much as 70 percent, according to Erlandson.

Four interlocking components comprise the program, including updated ordinances, manpower, education and law enforcement. Those four components are designed to work together and directly against the seven sources of litter which were identified in research, conducted by the Brewers Association.

According to Erlandson, before field testing, it was assumed that pedestrians and motorists were mainly responsible for litter. But research revealed that more than 50 percent of litter comes from five other sources.

Those five are household refuse put-outs, commercial refuse put-outs, loading-unloading operations, uncovered trucks, and construction sites.

To gain public awareness for the program, the U.S. Brewers use "Pitch In!" slogans, symbols, and educational materials, which urges all residents to containerize their litter and support the project.

The Romulus Beautification Committee wants to use the materials to kick off their annual spring cleanup campaign, scheduled for the week of May 10-17.

Following the Pitch In guidelines, the committee also hopes to incorporate the program into a year-long effort.

Last year the Beautification Committee launched a self-sponsored 12-point campaign, which concentrated on a litter collection weekend, a pine tree give-away, free litter bags containing marigold seed packets, a poster contest and inexpensive trash bags offered for sale at city hall.

Using the Pitch In materials donated by Erlandson, the committee is expanding its program this year in order to reach more Romulus residents with the cleanup message.

For their efforts last year the committee won the Keep Michigan Beautiful Distinguished Service plaque.

Students at Renton Junior High School in the Huron School District have just completed a magazine sales contest, in which the sixth grade classes are hoping to repeat last year's victory of being top sellers in the school.

The sales drive was sponsored by the Renton Student Council and money earned will be equally divided between the Student Council and the sixth, seventh and eighth grade classes. The money will be used for school projects.

Near the conclusion of the contest Monday Mrs. McGuire's sixth grade class was in first place with the other sixth grade class not far behind. At stake is a pizza party, while individual "salesmen" will be able to exchange points for various prizes.

Romulus City Council last week unanimously approved dedicating and naming the new Fire Station No. 1 at Huron River Drive and Northline Road in honor of Joseph J. Crova.

The recommendation was made by Mary Ann Banks, council chairman, who said Crova's lifetime devotion to fire fighting both as a fireman for 31 years and for housing a city fire truck at his place of business for 16 years, was worthy of the honor.

She said Crova and his wife answered fire calls at their family residence 24 hours a day, seven days a week for the 31 years and that he also kept the Fire Department's rescue van at his service station at no cost to the city.

Crova retired as fire chief in 1972 after giving "countless hours of his time" to the city. Mrs. Banks said. She also asked that a plaque and picture of Crova be placed inside the building with an appropriate legend.

The American Legion Auxiliary, Huron Valley 231, recently donated a large American flag to Huron High School, New Boston.

Carrie Keeler of the Huron Student Council received the flag on behalf of the student body from Mrs. Dierdorf, secretary-treasurer of the Huron Valley Ladies Auxiliary.

Romulus City Council last week voted to urge Wayne County to develop the 360-acre parcel of land on the southwest corner of Van Born and Merriman roads.

Pat Hogan, community development director, recommended council adopt a resolution to encourage the county's Economic Development Corporation to submit application for innovative funding to hire a planning consultant to help develop the property.

Following several discussions with the County EDC, that agency asked Romulus City Council to endorse its plan to develop the land. The land is now vacant.

Huron High School has announced the three winners of the American Legion's Wolverine Boys' and Girls' State. They are Theresa Bonner, Mark Martin and Harry Shiminsky.

The winners are all juniors and members of the National Honor Society. The students are selected by Huron High School faculty members who choose one girl and two boys to represent Huron High School.

Management firm to oversee county jail's construction

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners has tentatively approved the hiring of a construction management firm to oversee remaining construction on the new jail in downtown Detroit.

Called the superstructure phase, the move would involve all that is left to build above ground. Phases 1 and 2, respectively the sinking of caissons and basement work already have been contracted for and the basement is near completion, the board was told at a meeting of the Ways and Means Committee on Feb. 28.

A recommendation from the Building Division of the County Board of Auditors, the proposal is calculated to save $1.7 million in the project expected to cost $35 to $45 million. Savings from the switch to a construction management firm, rather than a general contractor to guide the project, would be due to payment on a fixed-fee basis instead of a percentage under the present system.

The concept still must be approved by the full board, and no funds were appropriated at Ways and Means nor was a particular firm mentioned. Selection of a management team would be through the county's usual bidding process.

In this instance, a representative of the Building's Division explained, the procedure would include recommendations from the auditors with approval necessary from the Public Works Committee, Ways and Means Committee and again the full board. Not until a firm was finally decided upon would negotiations begin for a fee.

Two other matters involving the jail also must be decided by the board following a decision by a 3-judge panel with superintending control over the jail. Judges Victor J. Baum, Thomas J. Brennan and John D. O'Hair ruled recently that the proposed cell size violates the Detroit building code.

The judges also ruled that the jail millage funds cannot be used for construction of parking facilities planned nearby. The board probably will seek a waiver on the building code.

Housewife sells 'glass plate' for $40; worth $1,800

NILES, Ill.—The story of a small fortune, lost because a housewife had no idea her glass plate was a collector's item, recently came to light.

In a letter to J. R. MacArthur, chairman of the Bradford Exchange, world's largest trading center in collector's plates, a Madison, Wis., woman wrote: "I had a Lalique 1965 plate... which I sold to a friend for $40. I had not heard of you at that time."

The plate she sold is actually valued at more than $1,800. Although MacArthur points out that this price is exceptionally high, he said, "I'm afraid others may be losing hundreds or thousands of dollars by not knowing what their plates are worth."

To aid in identifying valuable plates, the exchange issues a report that includes current prices on more than 900 plates, guidelines on what to look for and when to buy, and the plate evaluation checklist used by the exchange.

To obtain a copy without cost or obligation, just send your name, address, and zip code before Saturday of next week to: The Bradford Exchange, Dept. A 1981, 9301 Milwaukee Avenue, Niles, IL 60648. A postcard will do.

Of State Legislature

Foster home certification comes under scrutiny

According to one state representative, in an effort to ensure that foster homes in Michigan meet and maintain certain standards the legislature has enacted one law and is considering another bill that deals with the certification and licensing of adult and child foster care homes. State Rep. Edward Mahalak (D-38th District) said House Bill 4104, recently signed into law, requires owner-occupied adult foster care homes to be licensed for two years and inspected annually by the Department of Social Services (DSS).

The department also would conduct fire safety inspections of the home, according to the Western Wayne County lawmaker, who added that foster had been licensed on a yearly basis.

ensure that any adult or child placed in foster care homes in the state would be in homes that are certified and licensed and that the homes meet and maintain required standards, Mahalak explained.

State board hosts visual arts contest

In an effort to encourage young women and men to consider choosing a career that in the past has been dominated by the other sex, the State Board of Education is sponsoring a "Visual Arts on Pioneering."

The contest is open to all Michigan high school and community college students. Entries, in the form of photographs, cartoon strips or graphic designs suitable for use on T-shirts, bumper stickers and buttons, should portray a message of equal opportunity.

The contest deadline is March 31.

High school and community college entries will be judged separately, and 24 prizes will be awarded. First-place prizes will be given to eight students who will participate in a Visual Arts Experience in Lansing during May.

More information and entry blanks are available from Visual Arts Contest, Michigan Department of Education, P.O. Box 30009, Lansing 48909.

Foster homes:
The why of them

NOTE: The following story is a look at the goal of residential living that has been set for the mentally retarded and impaired who currently are living in institutions.

People with mental retardation have very similar needs and goals as we do. Sports, social activities, employment — even trying to quit smoking — are but a few examples of the activities that we have in common with mentally retarded citizens.

A goal for mentally retarded people living in institutions is to live in a home. Your help is needed to make this goal possible.

Department of Mental Health Placement Units located across the State of Michigan are developing homes in residential areas. These opportunities to live a more normal life can help mentally retarded citizens reach toward their full potential as contributing members of our society. For Western Wayne County, the Placement Unit is located at the Northville Residential Training Center (NRTC).

Although each home listed herein is different in structure, they do share the following common factors. Homes must meet Department of Social Services licensing requirements and Department of Mental Health contractual standards. House parents or staff will receive training, guidance and support from Northville Residential Training Center staff. This will enable house parents-staff to provide training and care to the person or persons placed into the home. Self-care skills (dressing, feeding), communication (language), socialization skills and activities are examples of the kinds of training mentally retarded people need. Each client will attend a school or day program. Ongoing supervision, program support and technical assistance is provided by Placement Unit staff.

Here is how you can help in Western Wayne County:
—Foster Parents are needed. Foster care involves the placement of one to three persons into a home. Foster parents can be single or married people between the ages of 18 and 65. Experience in mental retardation, or related human services is helpful. Monthly reimbursement is approximately $640 per month for each client placed into a home.

Administrative Agencies are needed to operate group homes. People interested in operating a home for six mentally retarded persons are needed. Experience in areas such as administration, social work, psychology, special education, nursing or other related disciplines is helpful.

Persons interested need to form a non-profit corporation to operate group homes, which contract with the Placement Unit for services provided. Placement Unit staff can give assistance and technical support to people interested in forming non-profit agencies to operate group homes.

Areas of responsibility for the administrative agency to operate group homes include program design and management, staff hiring and supervising the training needs of the residents. NRTC staff will provide guidelines for the management of the home.

Investors are needed. People interested in owning a home to be leased for use as a group home for six mentally retarded persons are needed. Investors serve in a landlord capacity, with the non-profit agency providing management services. Individuals, investment groups or agencies can become involved in several ways — by owning a home to be rented, by purchasing an existing home or by building a new home. NRTC staff will assist people in locating properties and securing acceptable lease arrangements.

People interested in more information on these services can call the Placement Unit at Northville Residential Training Center, an agency of the Department of Mental Health, at 349-8000.

Additionally, a Speakers Bureau is available to meet with groups such as neighborhood organizations, service clubs, schools and churches to discuss mental retardation. Speakers, films and written materials are available to anyone interested in obtaining more information.

Things that matter

Differing about differences

By GEORGE PLAGENZ
United Feature Syndicate

A bunch of us kids were coming home after a swimming party one night when we passed a farmer's cornfield. Suddenly, we became hungry for corn.

In a flash we were in the cornfield, grabbing two or three ears apiece, after which we went to Doris Jacobsen's house, where we cooked the corn and ate it with salt and pepper and plenty of butter. And my, was it good!

I mention the fact that our mouths were watering for corn, not because that makes stealing any less wrong, but because I was reading yesterday about a youth who stole just for the thrill of stealing, and I was wondering whether a child psychologist would say mine was a higher or lower form of juvenile delinquency.

This boy stole pears, for example, not because he couldn't resist biting into the luscious fruit — which would be understandable and maybe even forgivable — but just for the kick he got out of stealing.

Actually, he says he would take one bite out of the stolen pears and throw them away. He had, in fact, a pear tree in his own yard. His own explanation was that he stole simply because he knew it was wrong.

My only purpose in asking a child psychologist whether this boy's case was more serious than mine would be to try to trip up the psychologist. I would expect him to say that the boy who stole for thrills was in a worse way than I was.

Then I would tell him that the pear thief grew up to be St. Augustine, one of the world's most famous Christians, while I ended up a newspaper reporter.

I always like to tell stories like this to mothers who might be worried about the misdemeanors of their wayward offspring. It need not mean a thing. There are more examples than just St. Augustine and myself to prove it.

Napoleon graduated 42 in a class of 43. Well, you may say, Napoleon was a military genius. He wasn't cut out for Greek and rhetoric. Yes, but this was a military school!

At the age of 15, Isaac Newton showed so little promise that his bewildered parents actually took him out of school and put him to work on a farm.

The teacher of Henry Ward Beecher, who later became one of America's greatest preachers, once wrote this on Henry's report card: "Henry is a poor writer and miserable speller. He has a thick speech and is so shy he seems actually stupid."

Darwin did so poorly in school that his father once told him he would grow up "a disgrace to the Darwin family."

Lucky for these youngsters that their parents and elders gave them up for hopeless. If they had dragged them from psychologist to psychiatrist, they might have straightened them out and made them normal!

I got to thinking of all this after reading a new book on Rev. Sun Myung Moon and his controversial youth cult by Frederick Sontag.

Unlike the authors of most Moon books, who begin and end with an anti-Moon bias, Sontag — a respected professor and theologian — sees both the good and the bad in the movement, as well as the good and the bad in those who oppose the cult.

He charges that the deprogrammers hired by desperate parents to rescue their children from the cult's clutches use "the very tactics they accuse the movement of using: seclusion, constant mental pressure, removal of support and the presentation of one side of the argument only."

Sontag also points out that some parents charge the Moon cult with alienating their children from them because the goals and lifestyles of the Moonies are not the accepted goals and lifestyles of the parents.

But in many cases, Sontag says, the alienation was there all along — due to a lack of warmth and understanding in the family structure.

The parents, however, made nothing of this alienation until their children joined the Moonies because "alienation can be accepted as long as the child stays on an accepted societal track."

It probably is correct to say that when your child doesn't conform, there may be something the matter with him — or with you. There also is the chance there is nothing the matter with either of you.

In which case, if you try to "straighten him out," you take the same risk the engineer was about to take when he said he would like to straighten the Leaning Tower of Pisa.

You may be spoiling an original masterpiece.

The week's activities are co-sponsored by the university's handicapped student organization, Arrival, and the student Council for Exceptional Children. According to Mark Brazill, president of Arrival, there are approximately 130 handicapped students attending Eastern.

Handicapped Awareness Week will begin Monday with a donut sale from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. on the first floor of the Mark Jefferson Science Building. A panel discussion featuring the pros and cons of "mainstreaming" will be held from 12 noon to 1 p.m. in the Reception Room of McKenny Union.

Tuesday displays focusing on the special needs of handicapped students and role playing exercises will be held in the McKenny Union lobby from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Also, Eastern's department of special education will conduct a "Special Education Career Day" on campus and has invited students who have expressed an interest in careers in special education from schools within a 50-mile radius. A program featuring the courses available at EMU will be held from 10 a.m. to 12 noon in the Alumni Lounge of McKenny Union.

Next Wednesday displays will be set up in the lobby of McKenny Union and will include art works by area handicapped artists. Titled "A Very Special Arts Festival," the exhibit will include slides.

From 8 a.m. to 3 p.m., a film festival featuring motion pictures on children with handicaps will be shown in the lobby of McKenny Union.

At 10 a.m. Myrtle Gregg, chairperson of the Michigan Commission for Handicapped Concerns, will lecture in Guild Hall of McKenny Union.

Next Thursday the art exhibit, displays and film festival will continue in the lobby of McKenny Union from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. A puppet show titled "Meet the Kids on the Block," featuring handicapped puppets, will be presented by Jill England and Anne Long of the Washtenaw Intermediate School District in the lobby of McKenny Union from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

At 7:30 p.m., the Westland Sparks wheelchair basketball team will play an exhibition game in Bowen Field House. There is no charge for admission to the game.

Also, March 27 has been designated "Adopt A Kid Day" on Eastern's campus. Eastern's special education majors will sponsor one child from the university's Rackham School. The student will eat dinner with the child (pizzas have been provided courtesy of Domino's Pizza in Ypsilanti) and then accompany the child to the wheelchair basketball game at 7:30 p.m.

March 28 has been designated "Handicapped Kids Career Day" and will feature speakers from 10 a.m. to 12 noon in McKenny Union, followed by a brown-bag luncheon and a campus tour from 1 to 2 p.m. The day will be devoted to showing handicapped students what college life is like and will begin with remarks from Brazill.

ARE EVENING VISITATIONS IMPORTANT?

We say "Yes" and we underline it - YES!

The evening visitation at the funeral home, ours or the other fine funeral homes in our area, can be absolutely vital to the family of the deceased AND to the visitors as well.

Friends and relatives bring strength and support to the family when they need it most. They show their love and their loyalty in a heart-lifting way.

In our workaday world, your friends may simply be unable to attend the funeral. They want to express their feelings and their caring so that a visit with you one or two nights before the funeral is good for them, good for you and good for the spirit of the departed.

We believe so strongly in the therapeutic power of these hours that we offer an open invitation to attend at the wakes and visitations for friends and relatives.

If you have any questions about visiting procedures, please stop by and talk.

VAN BUREN TOWNSHIP REGULAR BOARD MEETING MINUTES - March 11, 1980 46425 Tyler Rd. Belleville, Mi. 48111.

Trustee Welty stated that he had not received Minutes of the Executive Session (Closed Portion) of the last meeting.

Secretary Dudick replied that she had consulted the Attorney before the Board went into the Closed Session and was informed that minutes were not necessary, therefore she did not attend that session.

Attorney James then stated that Minutes were necessary and that they need not be lengthy. Approval of the Regular Meeting Minutes is contingent upon approval of the Special Session.

Motion Welty, support Maton to table the Regular Board Meeting Minutes of February 26, 1980 until the minutes of the Executive Session are available. CARRIED.

AUDIENCE: Anita Parsons and Judy Pickett of AFSCME requested to speak on Item No. 4 on the agenda, Governmental Appointment Leave request for G. Mussehl, P. Gors, and D. Dudick.

Supervisor Cullin stated that they would be allowed to speak at that portion of the meeting and seeing no others wishing to speak, closed the audience portion of the meeting.

Motion Maton, support Welty to add the letter of resignation from the Treasurer, Dorothy York, to the agenda. CARRIED.

Clerk Craven read the following correspondence: Edgar McWilliams of ARC Real Estate wrote commending the Van Buren Township Planning Commission for its vigor, dedication and integrity in their dealings with him.

W.C.R.C. requesting the Board to select new names for portions of Old Haggerty Road in the vicinity of I-94 freeway.

Motion Craven, support DiDia to table the renaming of the portions of Old Haggerty Road until the next meeting. CARRIED.

Any citizen wishing to make suggestions for the remaining of these portions of Haggerty Road may come into the Clerk's Office and see the map detailing their location. Clerk Craven also suggested the Township Historian, Cathy Horste be involved in this project.

A letter from The Department of the Army, Corps of Engineers indicating the time extension requested by the Board (30 days) re: Sandys Marina request for a permit application (Proposed Fill Belleville Lake) had been granted.

A letter to Barfield Building Maintenance from Eugene Bracken regarding discontinuing their custodial services for the Township Hall was read by Clerk Craven.

The Clerk explained that Mr. Bracken has been dissatisfied with the service and on Monday, requested the letter be written and submitted to the Board for their approval. Discussion was held as to the method necessary to obtain a new cleaning service. Attorney James indicated that it was not necessary to go out for bids. Mr. Bracken could negotiate with other services and return to the Board for approval.

Motion DiDia, support Welty to approve the recommendation of Mr. Bracken to dismiss the Barfield Cleaning Service and to have Mr. Bracken return to the Board at the next meeting with a recommendation for a new cleaning service. CARRIED.

Motion Domen, support Maton to approve the Dust Palliative Contract with Wayne County Road Commission as presented. CARRIED.

Motion Welty, support Craven to approve the Resolution for the Dust Palliative as presented. CARRIED.

Contractors and present it to the Board at the next meeting. CARRIED.

Motion Domen, support Welty to grant a three (3) month leave of absence to Gladys Baldwin, employee of the Township Water Department. CARRIED.

Supervisor Cullin indicated that if the three month leave is not sufficient, Mrs. Baldwin can return to the Board and request an additional three month extension.

Discussion was held, regarding the request for a Governmental Appointment Leave by G. Mussehl, P. Gors and D. Dudick, between the Board and the representatives of AFSCME Local 236.

The consensus of opinion was that the request was untimely due to the employees requesting this leave having not been covered by the present contract at the time they took non-union positions with the Township.

Motion Craven, support Maton to note and file the requests as being untimely. CARRIED.

Motion Domen, support Welty to purchase 10,000 Emergency Phone Stickers as revised for $30.48 per 1,000. CARRIED.

Motion Domen, support Craven to approve the request to submit the application for a grant to purchase land by the dam for the second park development. CARRIED.

Engineer Levine explained to the Board that the final approval for the Terra Del Lago subdivision plat was now acceptable as the objections of Van Buren as to the taking over of the storm drains was no longer applicable. Wayne County had already signed the final approval indicating they would be responsible for the drains.

Motion Craven, support Maton to approve signing the final plat approval for the Terra Del Lago Subdivision. CARRIED.

Motion DiDia, support Domen to approve the amendment to the Senior Citizen Program Coordinator job description and approval to hire the people for the position to assist the Senior Citizen Director. CARRIED.

A letter of resignation was read by Clerk Craven from Treasurer Dorothy J. York. She indicated that ill health makes it impossible for her to continue. The resignation is effective April 1, 1980.

Motion Domen, support Craven to accept the letter of resignation from Treasurer York. CARRIED.

Motion Domen, support Craven to hold a Special Meeting April 1, 1980 at 6:00 P.M. to appoint Treasurer to fill the vacancy for the remaining term of Dorothy York. CARRIED.

Motion Maton, support Craven to send a letter of appreciation to the retiring Treasurer Dorothy York. CARRIED.

Attorney James reported on the results of the court case involving the Wayne County Road Commission stating that they will have their causeways, bridges and any other structures fortified to the extent, that by October 1, any lowering of the lake will not effect them. All other papers to be filed with court will be completed by April 30th and a final decision should follow shortly after that date.

Engineer Levine explained a request from the Wayne County Road Commission asking Van Buren Township to designate any extension of Robson Road west of Haggerty to Morton Taylor as an 86 ft. Quarter Section Line Road.

Motion Domen, support Craven to designate to Wayne County that Van Buren Township will require that any future development on Robson Road west of Haggerty to Morton Taylor will be maintained as an 86 foot Quarter Section Line Road. CARRIED.

Motion Craven, support Maton to table the request from Sandys Marina to purchase or lease Township property adjacent to the Marina until the problem of zoning is settled by the Board of Appeals. CARRIED.

It's almost time

Everyone who owns a motor vehicle must register that vehicle by March 31, 1980, if it is going to be legally driven on public highways after that date.

This year the Department of State is phasing in a new system of vehicle registration based on birthdate. Under this system, plates and tabs will expire each year on the vehicle owner's birthday.

To make the transition to the birthday system, the 1980 registration will be valid until the owner's next birthday. From then on, the plate or plate tabs will expire each year on the owner's birthday.

Some individual owners mistakenly assume they can wait until their birthday in 1980 to buy plates. All owners still must purchase their 1980 license plate tabs by the traditional March 31 deadline.

Schools will need your support

Ben Franklin should have added the word, "millages" to his (in)famous saying: "the only sure things in life are death and taxes."

It seems every time you turn around, schools are asking for more and more of what we have less and less of — the dollar.

And if there is an artful way to ask a taxpayer to support schools, also caught in the endless whirl of inflation and decreasing student population, we don't know of any.

The schools need money to educate, and though many will shrug their shoulders and frown about "the quality of education kids are receiving nowadays," the basic truths are that we can't afford NOT to educate our children.

In the coming weeks school districts such as Plymouth-Canton, Van Buren, Westwood will be going to the electorate and asking for monies to support a wide variety of school programs.

It would be easy to turn our face and forget our responsibilities; it would be easy to sway under the pressure of popular thought and tell readers: Let the schools cut programs, stick to basics, and forget about the complexities of a complex world, a world that needs leaders who can lead; who can make life-and-death decisions.

The modern student needs modern tools to work with — the little old red school house is a thing of the past. Let it remain there.

It comes down to this: "That history has narrowed down to a race between education and catastrophe..." H.G. Wells.

Education is the only means of averting pending chaos.

March 31 is millage election day in the Van Buren school district. The word "millage" does not usually leave a good taste in the mouths of taxpayers. But, when the education of youngsters in their formative and impressionistic years is at stake, then the conscience and good sense of community residents must come to the fore.

On the ballot is a request from the local school system for the renewal of six mills to maintain the current level of education. The key word is "renewal"; to keep six mills of the total operating millage now being levied for the next three years.

That six-mill amount will expire this year. To keep six-hour days in junior and high schools, to keep art and music in elementary schools, and most importantly, to retain accreditation with the North Central Association, Van Buren schools desperately need to retain the six mills of operational funds.

School officials are quick to point out that they actually need "additional" millage, but instead are tightening their belt to make do with the level of current revenues.

Van Buren school district taxpayers should appreciate this concession on the part of the school board and wholeheartedly support the renewal millage on Monday, March 31.

Whatever happens to a student after he enters the dog-eat-dog world on the outside after he leaves school, one thing is certain. Nobody can take away their education!

Education is the key that opens doors for themselves and their soon-to-be families; it is the vital ingredient that can best help them achieve whatever goals they have set for themselves; it is the catalyst that will help them do their share in making a better world for everyone.

In the highly competitive world of today, education is the pathway to progress.

We endorse the passage of the six-mill renewal levy requested by Van Buren schools.

All we urge is its passage, but only you can assure it.

In Plymouth-Canton School District, voters will be asked to choose on three propositions on March 27.

In brief, Proposition I is a bond issue of $14.6-million for renovation of existing buildings, energy conservation measures and replacement of worn-out equipment.

Proposition II is a bond issue of $7.3-million to build and equip a 40-classroom facility at Centennial Education Park for 1,000 high school students at a cost of $5.3-million. That would accommodate the students at both Plymouth Salem and Plymouth-Canton High schools which are located side by side.

The remainder of the money would be used to renovate a middle school for use by 1,200 high school students.

Proposition III is a half-mill levy of 10 years for maintenance to keep up school buildings once they have been restored to good condition.

With Plymouth-Canton School District expected to boom in student population over the next decade, the vital need for quality education requires good facilities of adequate size.

Therefore, upon the promise by Plymouth-Canton Board of Education members that they will use the money as wisely and diligently as possible, we endorse the approval of all three propositions.

No contract, no work

The Romulus teachers are on strike because there is no contract settlement.

The Board of Education is trying to avoid the issue by directing your attention to the organization which represents the Romulus teachers, Wayne County-MEA/NEA.

Contrary to the Board's concern that an outside group is bargaining for Romulus teachers, the WC-MEA/NEA is the Romulus teachers. They along with teachers from 13 other districts have combined to provide mutual aid and protection to bargain equitable contracts for teachers in Wayne County.

This concept is much the same as automobile workers from individual plants forming a large union.

In the past, we have been faced with no contracts and no law demanding that Boards of Education settle with the teachers. The Boards of Education are only required to bargain, not settle a contract.

In the past ten years, Romulus teachers have been without contracts for five of those ten years. The only time we began school with a contract was when we were on the second or third year of a continuing agreement. This year was no different.

The Romulus teachers have taught school for two-thirds of a school year without a contract. The Board was well aware that the teachers' contract would expire August, 1979, well before the time they formulated their present budget.

The Board had hoped that they could forestall meeting their financial responsibility to the largest labor group in the district as they have in the past.

We are not only teachers, but homeowners, parents and taxpaying citizens. We too need to have financial stability to continue to meet our financial obligations.

The teachers have worked this entire school year to date with no serious effort by the Board to settle this agreement. Therefore, we were left with no other choice but "NO CONTRACT - NO TEACHERS."

A young life ends

By TOM MOORADIAN
Acting Managing Editor

The tears are still there — in her eyes, in her heart. Her compassionate friends have helped over these difficult times, but the miracle that Jim Bost and his mother, Toni, had hoped and prayed for just didn't materialize.

The brief life of Jim Bost is over.

The sandy-haired, blue-eyed handsome sophomore died earlier this month in Mexico, where he and his mother traveled in search of that miracle. Laetrile.

Laetrile, the Bosts hoped, would trigger a remission in the dreaded disease, leukemia, which had spread throughout Jim's body unchecked for the past 17 months.

"We would like to thank all of the people who donated their time, baked goods and money to help raise the funds to send Jim to Mexico," said Mrs. Donna Kuehneman, an aunt who lives in Westland. "Right up to the end Jim remained courageous, hopeful, and he prayed not only for himself... but for others."

JIM BOST

"He would tell his mother that 'everything will be all right, that we should have courage,'" Mrs. Kuehneman added. "Jim had that flicker of hope — indestructible hope..."

Jim had a lot of plans, too. He wanted to play football and swim for the high school team. But those trips to Detroit Children's Hospital — which got more frequent as the disease progressed — robbed him of his strength.

He lived life, crowding every second with things that most people put off. In 16 years he did what most people don't do in a lifetime.

"I have had plenty of time to think about all of this, too," said Mrs. Kuehneman, "and believe me, there is something to the saying that 'we should live each day as if it were to be our last one'."

The folks in Westland and the area helped raise $550 to give Jim a chance to see if laetrile could do what chemotherapy couldn't accomplish. Laetrile, of course, has been heralded in some quarters as a cure for cancer. However, although the use of laetrile has been legalized by legislatures in some states, it is not legal in Michigan. And federal law bans it from interstate shipment.

People in the community, people like Claudine Cutrell, Carol Smith, Marcia Trent, Darlene Artley, Jo Smokovitz, Cindy Hale, Kim Cutrell and Judy Acord reached out and organized a bake sale to give Jim an opportunity to make the trip to Mexico.

"They, like ourselves, hoped for the miracle that would spare a young and happy life," Mrs. Kuehneman said. "But, it's over now. And all we can say is that Jim would have wanted us to thank everyone for what they did for him."

You know, author John Irving in his book, "Garp," pointed out "that we are all terminal cases."

But, God, why does he take the very young?

It happened Monday night at the Inkster Council meeting. An elderly, distinguished man asked to plead his case before the fathers of that city. The man moved slowly to the microphone set in front of Council. He spoke softly, but clearly. And made his point.

"Gentlemen," the dignified-looking, white-haired artisan spoke. "I own a small shoppe here in Inkster. It's a boutique and I do upholstery."

"During the past six months, my shoppe has been broken into three times. It has been burglarized. Ransacked. And there is little left."

"Gentlemen, I moved here from Detroit in hopes of getting away from things like this. How do you expect me to stay in business? I am left with only my tools."

"And when they come back and take them, then there is nothing left..."

The man silently, slowly returned to his seat.

Gentlemen, how DO honest people remain in business?

Hypertension: The silent killer

By: Patricia Ibbotson, R.N.
Supervisor, Outpatient Department
Wayne County General Hospital

Hypertension, commonly called high blood pressure, is one of the major health care problems in the United States.

It is estimated that one out of every six people has high blood pressure. The prevalence of hypertension among women is about 4 percent higher than among men, and high blood pressure among blacks is about 12 percent higher than among whites.

Hypertension can occur at any age, and it is a particularly serious disease when it affects children. Generally, it is most frequently seen in adults between the ages of 30 and 50.

This disease has been called "The Silent Killer" because many people with high blood pressure do not have any symptoms until the disease is far advanced. Sometimes the only early symptom of high blood pressure is a mild headache in the morning. Sometimes there are no symptoms whatsoever in the early stages of the disease.

If high blood pressure is undetected or untreated, it may lead to heart attacks, heart failure, strokes, eye problems, and kidney problems.

There are different types of high blood pressure. One type is called essential hypertension, and about 80 to 90 percent of all people with high blood pressure fall into this classification.

No one knows what causes this type of high blood pressure although being overweight, under stress, and eating a diet high in salt and cholesterol are some factors that may cause high blood pressure.

Heredity also plays a role in this disease. Taking birth control pills has also been linked to high blood pressure.

Another type of hypertension is caused from other diseases. For example, some pregnant women have high blood pressure associated with a disease called toxemia. Some kidney diseases also cause the blood pressure to become high.

The treatment for high blood pressure includes weight control, elimination of salt in the diet, and learning to cope with the stresses of daily living. There are also medications prescribed to doctors to control high blood pressure.

It is estimated that about 7 million people in the United States and Canada have high blood pressure but don't know they have it. Because of this, many hospitals and clinics have established screening clinics so that high blood pressure may be detected early.

Free blood pressure checks are done daily, Monday through Friday, between the hours of 7:30 a.m. and 4 p.m. at the N-107 Clinic at Wayne County General Hospital, Westland, Michigan. If further information about this service is desired, call 722-2500 and ask the operator for extension 6347.

Bad experience

EDITOR: On March 8th, I had quite an unpleasant experience with the Racketball area of the Wayne Community Center that has left me wondering just how community oriented this Center really is. My sister was spending the weekend and anxious to try racketball, especially after I extolled the virtues of our great Center. I made and paid for reservations well in advance and arranged for a babysitter at home.

Upon arriving at the Center, I was asked for a receipt as proof of a reservation. This seemed unusual, but I produced the receipt. I was then told the court was already reserved, I couldn't have a refund and I would have to reschedule for another court within the week before I left the desk. No apology. No explanation. Supposedly I was being given "free court time" which I still don't understand since a refund was refused. I didn't want to reschedule since my sister would not be here next weekend and offhand I wasn't sure when I would be able to come back up, but it was that or nothing.

I don't understand the mix up since the court was clearly available when I reserved it. I understand the Center has a no refund policy on cancellations, but it was not my choice to cancel. I think I was entitled to a refund since what I had paid for was not available. There appears to be a need to re-evaluate policy and management techniques at the Center. The entire situation was handled poorly. I was inconvenienced by needlessly arranging for a sitter, a weekend visit was marred, and we were left with a poor impression of the Rec Center. A small incident perhaps, but it is upon these that opinion and attitudes are formed. The Rec Center has grown tremendously over the years, but apparently bigger isn't better.

In appreciation

EDITOR: May I take this opportunity to express my appreciation on behalf of our school district for Michael Farrentine and the Wayne Disposal Inc. in bringing the completion of the athletic field at North Junior High School in Belleville.

It is not too often our school system receives help of such magnitude from a member of the business community. With this in mind, therefore, it gives me great pleasure to write this letter.

If it was not for the very large quantity of good grade top soil which you donated in order to complete this project, I am very confident that the North Junior High students, faculty and administrators, who have waited patiently so many years for this to happen, would most likely still be waiting for an athletic field.

I would also like to point out that your prompt deliveries and excellent cooperation with our contractor and architect also proved to be most helpful in bringing about the timely completion of the field just before the start of the winter season.

Again, on behalf of the occupants of North Junior High as well as the Board of Education, I would like to convey to you our deepest gratitude for your generous support and assistance.

About schools

EDITOR: The public should be aware of the administrative changes within the Wayne-Westland Community Schools as reported in your Feb. 28th issue. We have lost many good men to other districts in the past few months causing a "ripple effect" to occur in our district.

As a teacher in the district, I represent many in expressing my opinion that the newly appointed men, not only principals but board members as well, are not qualified to fulfill these positions.

Our district is in such chaos that teachers talk more about the poor administration than devoting the needed time to research topics for lecture, thus hurting your child's education.

LEN GRANT
WESTLAND

S.O.S.

EDITOR: Our family always thought your newspaper would be courteous enough to answer people's telephone calls to you for help when they can't get it from the City of Westland.

I called a couple of weeks ago and asked to talk to one of your reporters. I tried to explain to the young woman whom I talked to why I wanted to talk. I have yet to receive a return call.

We have a very dangerous situation on Alberta St. at the corner of Alanson. A deep gutter that water stands in almost constantly right now is deep, so deep its about up to street level.

We also have had a drainage problem in front of our home since moving here 14 years ago. When it rains, or thaws water collects on this corner. The drain in the gutter is clogged with mud or dirt.

There are many children who play around or in this water all the time. I'm wondering how long must we put up with this deplorable condition. But then I guess this water problem would be solved pretty quick if something happened to a child or citizen in the area if they sued the City.

It's dangerous, unhealthy and always attracts small children. We live on Alanson on this corner and this gutter is terrible. When ever there's water lying here on this corner it also lies up in our approach.

Detroit Edison removed an old pole on March 3, 1980. It's also lying in the water in the gutter and you know how that would attract children.

This water problem is deplorable and has been a thorn in our side for 14 years. Sure the City has been down here trying makeshift remedies but to no avail.

Just a little over a year ago the City had Alanson and Alberta Street resurfaced and graded along Alberta. If you looked at this grading 4 to 6 months after being done you would never know it, at least on this side of Alberta. It's all fallen into this gutter and plugged the drain.

We retired in 1970. We have payed high taxes for this area and are going to take a hefty hike this year in taxes anyway. Just like Mark J. Tooze said in his letter to you.

We know he's trying to tell you that the Norwayne area and people living in or near it are absolutely forgotten by the City. But the City always wants more and more of your money to run it.

We think our property taxes should be lowered more every year, not hiked.

We agree entirely with Mr. Tooze's letter. No one could have said it better.

The people next door to us are constantly running in and out of their driveway with cars, cars, and more cars. Garbage lies around by their back door, right under both of our bedroom windows. Westland's City code enforcement is one big joke.

We very seldom see a scout car come thru here, and when you do call for a scout car they take their damned sweet time getting here.

Believe me as soon as we are able we are getting out of this area. It seems to be the only solution.

We think the most dangerous problem is this gutter and our next phone call will be to the health department.

The City did put a drain in at the corner but the corner is miserable. It's falling in. With these problems we are wondering why the City paid those people for resurfacing, especially at the corner and grading along Alberta.

Foster homes

EDITOR: I am responding to your recent article on the foster home story.

Mr. Greenstein has done it again! He calls this another example of "sleazy business" trying to locate in Canton Township.

I believe that the state has guide lines to follow for these foster homes. I believe that it has to be set up like a business or the state would not have allowed these cases to proceed this far.

Mr. Greenstein's approach, that if it is a commercial business, the homes should not be located in residential formed areas. It would seem to me that a residential house within a commercially zoned area is even further from what he would propose.

The way I understand the purpose of these foster homes is that the people are not "warehoused in an institution" but are given an opportunity to learn to survive in the mainstream of life.

These handicapped people can and should be given the opportunity to work, play and enjoy life in some community. I also understand that the State has decided this might be the best method of accomplishing these goals. There must be experts somewhere that know the best ways to help people.

I see his denial of these basic human needs as a further means of Mr. Greenstein's attack on the business community. I hope not too many people get caught up in his play.

The myriad meanings of Spring

Spring is here.

Glorious, warming, sun-crowned Spring. The calendar proclaims it and the joyful, beaming rays of the sun emphasize it.

Spring! My favorite time of the year. Spring — even the name has an uplifting ring to it after the winter of our discontent. Does anyone not like Spring? The whole earth awakens after a frigid winter's nap.

Many have taken pen in hand to describe the exhilarating euphoria of Spring. Whether in jest or prose or pure delight, Spring is the topic of creative minds.

Ask Carol Premo

'He owes me money...'

By CAROL PREMO, C.S.W.

DEAR CAROL,

There is a guy at work who has three children and is usually on a strict financial budget and does not have money to spend for lunch. He has borrowed money from me for lunch with the indication that he will repay me. Lately, he seems to have extra money, but has made no attempt to repay me. He probably has forgotten and if it were anyone else I would say something, but I feel sorry for him. What should I do?

Need an answer

DEAR NEEDS,

Although your feelings are understandable, your pity will not help you to pay his way or to accept his responsibilities. If you do care for him, as you appear to, treat him as you would anyone else and remind him of his rightful debt to you.

Sometimes the kindest thing to do is to not take care of someone.

DEAR CAROL,

In answer to the mother who lost her 2 year old baby Feb. 2, 1980 in the Westland Eagle.

I lost a child too, many years ago. I would like the mother to have this little poem, hoping it will help her bear her grief a little better.

Sincerely,
Rose

"A Child of God"

"I'll lend you for a little while—
A child of mine," he said,
for you to have the while he lives
And mourn for when he's dead.

It may be six or seven years, or twenty-two or three—
But will you, till I call him back—take care of him, for me?

He will bring his charms to gladden you and shall his stay be brief
You will have his lovely memory as solace for your grief.

I cannot promise he will stay since all from earth returns,
But there are lessons taught down there
I want this child to learn.

I have looked this wide world over in my search for teachers true.

And from the throngs that crowd life's lanes
"I have selected you."

Now will you give him all your love?
Nor think the labor vain
Nor hate me when I come to call
To take him back again?

I fancied that I heard you say
"Dear Lord, thy will be done."
For all the joy thy child shall bring
The risk of grief we'll run.

We will shelter him with tenderness
We will love him while we may,
And for the happiness we have known
Forever grateful stay.

But shall the Angels call for him
Much quicker than we planned
We'll brave the bitter grief that comes
And try to understand.

DEAR ROSE,

Thank you so much for opening your heart to that young mother during her time of sorrow. It is so important to know that others care and understand.

"Spring has sprung, the grass has riz,

I wonder where the birdies is," wrote one Spring lover to another.

Another jubilant observer of the warming trend, penned:

"Tis Spring and the bird is on the wing;

Oh my word! I thought the wing was on the bird."

Still another lover of this uplifting season reflects upon the romantic aspects of it all. "In Spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love." Someone has paraphrased that (a male no doubt) to read: "In Spring a young man's fancy turns to thoughts of what a young lady has been thinking about all year long."

For the intellectual, there is this definition of Spring in The American Heritage Dictionary: "The season of the year, occurring between winter and summer, during which the weather becomes warmer and plants revive, extending in the Northern Hemisphere from the vernal equinox to the summer solstice and popularly considered to comprise March, April and May."

Ah, Spring with a capital "S." There are so many positive meanings to the word — Spring. "To move upward or forward in a single quick motion; to leap." Give us a couple days of 50-degree weather after near-zero temperatures and we're kicking up our heels.

Another definition, a rather humorous one I might add, is: "To cause to be released from prison." We are freed from the "prison" of heavy boots, burdensome coat, scarf and thick gloves. Clad in short sleeves and lighter clothing, we can stroll casually down the sidewalk basking in the sunlight instead of ducking howling winds, swirling snowflakes and foot-deep snow drifts.

Spring: "An elastic device, such as a coil of wire, that regains its original shape after being compressed or extended." I'll tell you, enduring a rugged winter is enough to "bend anybody out of shape." But those warming rays of the sun, like current flowing into a weak battery, really puts a spring in your step. Still another definition of Spring is: "The act of springing; especially a jump or a leap." Or how about this one: "An actuating force or factor; a motive."

How about these additional meanings of spring — "The return to normal shape after removal of stress." (Enough said!) But get this, "A natural fountain or flow of water; a source, origin or beginning."

There are about 15 meanings of the word spring. To be perfectly honest, one definition reads: "To become bent, warped or cracked." But that's not my Spring — not my Spring with the capital "S" that heralds warming temperatures, lush green lawns and blooming flowers.

Sweet Symphony of Spring

By Jim Bradley

Hasten quickly, sweet Spring, borne on gentle wings of wind, warmly rush to greet us and dispel the deadly chill of winter.

March in, sweet Spring, to the soft melody of chirping birds and budding trees. Thou of ancient age, which dost perennially return, clothe nature in golden dress and decorate the barren vale.

Turn icy brooks to babbling, churning melodies of awakened streams,

*Winter's remnants sail away,
'Til all remains is memory.*

*Turn brown lawns to colorful green with thy sunlit fingertips and raindrops from thy heavenly hand.
As a symphony of Spring, sweetly enter and conquer dying Winter's final thrust.*

*Shine brightly, arc of light!
Burn away the fading chill!*

Then let the trumpets of chirping insects, trilling birds and sighing winds herald thy coming, sweet princess of Joy!

When a child is born

By JOYCE HAGELTHORN

During the last ten years five children have come to call me Grandma. Each one was a special event, floating in on the little pink clouds babies come on, especially endowed with dimples, big, blue eyes and flashing smiles which reached out and caught at their grandmother's heartstrings and made them her own beloved... Darcy, Mike, Tony, Jason and Jamie.

Last Monday, wee Robert came to take his place, but the pink cloud he was floating in on developed a bit of trouble and the beautiful, round-cheeked baby boy has been spending the last few days in intensive care while his mother is battling pain and fear for her little one.

Wee Robert is determined to make it, and as his grandmothers stood outside, looking through the glass plate window, arms aching to hold the sturdy nine pound four ounce boy with black patches on his eyes, and fluorescent lights turned on his body, we, each in our own way, sent pleading prayers to the heavens from where the little one had just come.

And as my prayers soared upwards it almost seemed to me that a glowing light came down through the ceiling and surrounded that incubator, permeating it and touching the baby and making him whole.

Jason and Jamie, Robert's big brothers, seem to sense the solemnity surrounding the coming of their baby brother, for they talk little of him, except to ask when he is coming home. Both little boys seems to be aware that their little brother's entrance into this world was a harried one, and down in their hearts they seem to recognize what is happening, for both of them had traumatic entries into this world.

And as I pray and worry about my newest grandson, I look at these two husky, strong, intelligent little boys and my heart seems assured that wee Robert has inherited the stamina and the will to live which his brothers have.

There is a sense of mysticism about this baby, almost as if his beginning struggle will prepare him for the destiny which is before him. I see him grown, strong and intelligent, with a touch of the stars in him, making all of those who come in contact with him feel better because of that contact. And I see him looking up to the heavens for his strength... Robert John Hagelthorn, who was destined to be born.

I long to hold him. To cuddle him. To laugh with the joy of his being. But until that day comes I know he is being touched by the light from above.

I will be patient.

4th best relay teams in state

Belleville swimmers prove they're among best in the state

As they have all season long, Belleville swimmers came up with some clutch performances and record efforts to finish among the top 10 Class A teams in the state.

Coach Sam Vicchy's Tigers rattled off seven records (out of 11 events), avenged their lone dual meet loss of the season to finish sixth in the state in finals held Friday and Saturday at Michigan State University's Charles McCaffree Pool in East Lansing.

"This is just the beginning," vowed the 41-year-old Belleville coach. "We got this thing moving and we're not going to stop here."

Belleville's 13-1 dual meet record and sixth-place finish at state were the best in the school's long swim history.

"I'm very pleased with all of this," Vicchy continued. "And the positive publicity has had an excellent effect on all of us."

Belleville fielded the fourth best medley and freestyle relay teams at state. The Tiger foursomes set school records in earning their medals. In the medley relay, Belleville went with Ward Tomich, Mark Schofield, Jeff Bullock and Michael Stoelton who were clocked in 1:40.60. They finished behind state champ Ann Arbor Pioneer (1:37.9), Bloomfield Hills Andover and Birmingham Groves.

Belleville's freestyle relay team consisted of Mike Stoelton, Brett Lawson, Chris Renton and Ward Tomich and that foursome were clocked in 3:15.2. They also finished behind teams representing Pioneer (3:11.3), Andover and Groves.

Stoelton came up with another school record and a fourth place medal for his performance in the 50-yard freestyle. He touched in at 22.2, while Tomich checked in at 55.6 in eclipsing the school mark for the 100-yard backstroke.

Although they didn't qualify for the finals, Renton shattered the school mark for the 200-yard freestyle when he finished 13th in 1:46.5, while Stoelton's 48.9 for the 100-yard freestyle was also another Tiger best. Greg Cooper turned in a 1:03.8 for the 100-yard breaststroke.

Belleville junior diver Pat McClelland amassed 403.25 points, finishing among the top divers in the state. The gold was awarded to Pioneer's Bruce Kimball who gathered 523.70 points. East Kentwood's Don Crowley was runner-up with 460, while Andover's Mike Wantuck's 449.65 earned him a third place medal.

Among the state swim powers

Shattering seven records and winning state medals for their efforts in both the medley and freestyle relays, Belleville swimmers returned from East Lansing Saturday night with a sixth place finish — the best finish in state by any Tiger swim team. Above, Coach Sam Vicchy's tankers gather around their mentor after their victory at the Western Wayne Invitational, one of the highlights of a 13-1 won-lost over-all season. Vicchy also caught many of his fans by surprise last week when he announced that he would not return as the Tiger coach next year.

A stately finish

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

Doris Busuito was in one of her rare talkative moods. Understandably so.

Busuito and her girls' volleyball team had just gotten off the bus that had taken the Wayne Memorial team to the Clintondale Community School District and Avondale High School.

The purpose of that trip was to compete in the state's volleyball championship. And Wayne was runner-up at state.

"You know we had won 22 matches in a row," said Coach Busuito, "and you knew that there was a lot of pressure on these kids. But when you get to the state finals ... well, that's something else. We came so close to taking it all."

Most high school teams are obsessed with winning a state championship. It is "the ultimate," after all, isn't it?

"I guess so," replied Coach Busuito, "but, I guess what makes this team great is that, while they are competing, they are also having a lot of fun. I feel one of the malaises of today's sports is that people forget competitive sports can be fun."

Wayne came within an eyelash of capturing the state title, losing the honor to a Creston team that came from behind to swipe the coveted first place trophy from the local contingent.

Unweariedly, Mrs. Busuito said that her team was better for the entire experience. "There was a lot of pressure on us, as there is on anyone who goes so far in state competition. But we have a first class team and we returned with the second place trophy — it's huge."

Could she pinpoint where the team's demise came.

"Oh, I think so," said the tall, slim attractive coach who looks as if she could get behind the net and spike the ball with the best of them. "We won the first set in the finals, and went ahead 10-3 in the second when the officials called a demoralizing and controversial line call against us."

"The momentum switched. Creston came back and beat us 16-14 in a barnburner," Mrs. Busuito continued. "Then, in the finals we just didn't look the same even though we held our ground most of the way."

Wayne lost the crucial third set, 15-11. Creston got the gold, and the silver medals were reserved for Wayne.

"We're the first team from Wayne to ever go so far in state competition," noted the Zebra mentor. "I feel we can all be proud of these girls."

We are.

And maybe we can get the school and City Council to honor this team with some sort of special recognition.

Ten years ago Belleville's swim coach Sam Vicchy served notice that he would one day have a team that will be among the best in the state.

Last Saturday, at East Lansing in Michigan State University's athletic complex, Vicchy fulfilled that promise. His Tigers finished among the top 10 — sixth to be specific — among the great prep swim powers of this state.

Unpretentious, soft-spoken, the coach went around and did his work while old hacks like myself were skeptical that Vicchy would ever accomplish his goal. The odds, we felt, were stacked against him. The powers that are — Ann Arbor, Birmingham Groves, Dearborn have 12 month swimming programs, while the Belleville of the past had to rely on voluntary help and volunteers to get their program off the ground.

Giving 100 percent to his swimmers has cost Vicchy — in time spent away from his family, in nerves, and personal health.

"And when he said 'that I'm taking the year off next year to recuperate,' it's understandable.

My only wish is that some of the people who bewail the decrepit state of our schools could spend a few hours watching men like Coach Sam Vicchy.

Wilson signs with NI

Bill Wilson, who earned All-Area accolades as a griddier at Wayne Memorial High last season, has signed a letter of intent to attend Northwood Institute next fall, according to NI head coach Jack Finn.

Wilson, a 6-2, 195-pound two-way performer who starred as a linebacker, will be used defensively, according to the NI coach.

"We are extremely happy to have Bill coming to Northwood," said Coach Finn. "We had to fight Grand Valley to get him. He'll play either linebacker or defensive end for us."

Bill is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilson of 33251 Parkwood in Westland.

All Area coming up next

Although the winter high school sports season has ended for all of the area teams, there remains three "big meets" coming up in the next two weeks.

The Associated Newspapers will unveil its 1980 editions of the prep All-Area basketball, wrestling and swimming teams, and also honor coaches in each sport.

The teams will be selected by the ANP sports staff in cooperation with the area high school coaches.

Don't miss these star-studded teams players have helped make the 1979-80 season an exciting one.

Glenn soph earns state swim medal

Greg Dawkins is a power to contend with in the state.

The 15-year-old Westland John Glenn sophomore won the consolation finals of the 100-yard freestyle and finished sixth in the 200-yard freestyle in state competition staged Saturday in East Lansing at Michigan State University.

Dawkins' 48.35 for the 100 and 1:45.45 for the 200 were the fastest times turned in the state by any sophomore swimmer. The two performances also established new Glenn records.

"Greg was the only sophomore in either the consolation or the finals," said Glenn Coach Jim Lawrence. "Obviously, he is a power to contend with in the future."

Last of the Mohicans

Canton High School has the nickname of the Chiefs and so it was suitable they "were the last of the Mohicans" in being the last team in Associated Newspapers area to be knocked out of the state basketball tournament. Coach Craig Bell's boys won 12 games in a row before being upset, 57-51, by Taylor Center in the Ypsilanti Regional last week. Sean Houle (41) led Canton with 15 points and forward Brad Westin (33) added 10 in the losing cause. Canton finished 17-7 this year and has a 34-12 overall record the past two years under Bell.

Van Buren to hold baseball tryouts

Belleville Van Buren Little League will hold indoor baseball tryouts at 6 p.m., April 15 and April 16 in the Belleville High School gym. Minor League baseball and softball players, ages 8 to 12, are urged to take part in these sessions.

"This is the first time we have scheduled our tryouts indoors," said George Roberts, a Van Buren Little League official, "and one of the reasons we are doing so is that they (tryouts) will go off as scheduled no matter what kind of weather we have."

All eight year old boys and girls who want to play in T-Ball Leagues must register. There are no tryouts for this age group. Major League players will have an opportunity to try out at a later date.

Further information may be obtained by telephoning Roberts (697-1641) or George Brown (697-4870).

Also, the Van Buren Umpire's Clinic will continue on March 29 when a certified umpire from the University of Michigan will be on hand to discuss officiating and present a film.

About 74 persons have thus far taken part in the seminars which are geared to instruct young baseball officials and prepare them for the 1980 season.

A 4-hour session is planned for March 29th at the Van Buren Township Hall. The seminar is sponsored by the Van Buren Little League.

Belleville diver helps EMU win title

RAY PAPONETTI

Ex-Belleville High diving ace, Ray Paponetti, put forth his best efforts for the season in placing fourth in the one-meter diving and seventh in the three-meter competitions to help Eastern Michigan University capture the Mid-American Conference championship.

Paponetti compiled 409.75 points on the one-meter board and picked up 363 points for his efforts on the three-meter boards for his medal-winning performances.

Eastern Michigan produced 322 points to claim the team title, while second-place Western Michigan came up with 283.5 points, and third place Miami had 253.

"It was really a great experience," said EMU Coach Mike Jones. "What a pleasure it is to coach these guys. We scored in every event, and in only two events did we not have a championship finalist. This was by far the best group of talent I've worked with. Everyone was willing to do the work."

Ex-All-Area ball player leads WMU

Off to a solid start for Western Michigan University's baseball team is Westland junior Ken Scarpace, who led the team in total hits on its recently completed southern trip.

A graduate of Livonia Franklin High, Scarpace had 14 hits in 43 at bats for a .333 average. On five occasions during the trip he delivered more than one hit, coming up with three safeties in games against Missouri and Purdue.

In addition, Ken had four triples and six runs batted in the 12 games he played in.

Scarpace hit only .231 as a sophomore, a big drop from his .371 showing as a freshman, but he still contributed many big hits, and was second on the team in RBI's in 1979 with 23.

Coach Fred Decker's Broncos, which open the remainder of their schedule on Mar. 22 at the Louisville, Ky., Invitational, were 6-6 on the Florida trip.

Taylor Center ends Canton cage season

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Sports Writer

Skilled ballhandling and stubborn, sticky defense by Taylor Center upset Canton's Chiefs, 57-51, and knocked the last team from this area out of the state basketball tournament.

Coach Craig Bell's squad went into last week's regional at Ypsilanti as a favorite over the shorter Rams, but the rabbit-quick winners of the Dearborn District proved too tough for Canton.

Canton won its own district title by stunning favored Plymouth Salem, 68-64, in the championship game and were favored over the Rams, who started two 5-foot-8 guards and two 5-foot-10 forwards to go with their 6-5 center.

However, the sharp-shooting Taylor Center quintet played a flawless game in keeping Canton off the boards and utilizing sticky defense to bottle up their scoring opportunities.

The Rams of Coach Wayne Hamilton, a bunch of dead-eye shooters, fired to a 16-10 first quarter lead and held a 26-22 margin at intermission. Dave Visser's short jumper from the right side brought Canton to within one basket to open the second half. But the Rams kept getting key baskets in holding a 40-32 lead after three periods.

The Rams' short, fast players responded quickly on defense and kept the Chiefs off-balance throughout the second half and never let them get their rhythm.

Taylor Center held a 6 to 8-point lead most of the final quarter and was up, 56-47, with 20 seconds left before two Visser baskets made the final score a little closer.

"Taylor Center did a great job of slowing down the tempo of the game and we never could get moving as we like to," Bell explained.

"They have good ball handlers and played one of their best games of the year. They were very short, but they made up for that in hustle and quickness. When Dave Visser opened the second half with a basket to cut the score to 26-24, we felt that might give us momentum, but we just couldn't get it going. Give a lot of credit to Taylor Center; they played extremely tough defense, went to the boards with authority and moved the ball on offense very well."

Bell called it Canton's finest season. After going 17-5 and losing in the district finals to Plymouth Salem last year, Canton finished 17-7 this season for an extremely good 37-12 record the past two years. "On Jan. 25 we were 5-6 overall and won our next 12 games in a row. That shows the quality and caliber of these boys."

"It's been an outstanding experience to coach them this season and I appreciate the opportunity to do so," Bell said.

Canton's taller Chiefs went into the regional opener at Ypsi as the favorite.

Going against the "Mighty mites" of Taylor Center, was a front line of the Chiefs comprised of Center Dave Visser (6-foot-5), forwards Sean Houle and Brad Westin, both 6-4, and guards Scott Adler (6-foot) and Dave Malek (6-1).

Taylor only had one player over 6-foot in the starting line-up but did come in with sub Eric Woloszyk, a 6-3 junior forward who played only briefly.

The black and gold-clad Rams opened the scoring when Jim Schafranek, a 6-5 center, slipped underneath for a lay-up. That bucket helped him notch 16 points to lead the scoring parade for Taylor Center, but he got help from his front-line teammates. Forward Rich Gaedke, a 5-10 senior, added 11 points and 5-10 forward Jeff Sarendrea had 10.

A pair of 5-foot-8 twin guards directed the Rams' attack, Brian and Barry Griesinger. Barry hit for nine points from outside and Brian added eight, in addition to both playing super defense.

Canton again got good balanced scoring but it wasn't often enough. Sean Houle, the only Canton player to go to the free throw line all night, sank 5-of-7 and dropped in five baskets for 15 points in his last game in Canton uniform. Visser drilled in

Wayne gymnast captures state floor exercise crown

Natalie Kozorosky became the first Wayne Memorial gymnast to capture a coveted gold medal in state competition.

The 16-year-old attractive gymnast earned first place honors this week when she compiled a 9.2 (out of a possible 10) for her performance, beating out some 45 other finalists in that event at East Kentwood.

"She was just super," said Wayne Coach Gayle Tuma. "We're very proud of her and hope she'll continue with much more success in the future."

Natalie's gold-winning performance, plus her efforts on the uneven bars (8.15), vault (8.15) and balance beam (7.9) gave her a total of 33.4 points which enabled her to finish eighth out of the 25 contestants in the all-around category.

"It's a very high honor to even make it as an all-around performer," explained Coach Tuma. "You must be in the top eight in each event at your regional gymnastic meet to be entered as an all-round competitor at the state finals."

In her state-winning performance, Miss Kozorosky used a double-twisting layout in her routine and she also performed a full-twisting somersault at the end of her performance.

East Kentwood, the host, captured the state team championship with a total of 100.65 points and also had the top gymnast in Jodi Thompson who amassed 35.95 points. Ludington High was second with 100 points.

Move over Gordie Howe

Like the ageless Gordie Howe who sets all kinds of records every time he steps out and skates, the Over 30 Wayne-Westland Hockey League has its share of "oldtimers" who can handle a hockey stick and play with the best of them. And Futurama Engineering proved this season that they had the best team in the local Over 30 team. The winning lineup is pictured above.

Upsets rock Over 30 hockey league playoffs

Playoffs got under way last week in the Wayne-Westland Over 30 Hockey League and they immediately produced some surprises in the form of two upsets.

Sluggish and ineffective on the ice throughout most of the regular campaign, Jake Lounge suddenly awoke and jolted Tasee Freez, the reigning Berrington Division champ.

The underdog, Jake's, won a thriller 2-1 to oust the champs from the playoffs. Jake's managed to win only two games all season and the victory over the champs was their first since November 4. The winners received a pair of first period goals from Ray Schemanske and Larry Kaifesh, then held off the determined Tasee Freez contingent. A goal off Rod Dittmar's stick with four minutes remaining in the contest robbed goalie Gene Machiwak of his first shutout of the season.

In a free scoring game, Brock's Homes posted a 9-5 victory over highly-touted Johnson Carbonic. Johnson's trailed most of the duel before closing the gap 6-5 with 8 minutes left on the clock. Then Brock's came up with three decisive goals to startle their rivals and ice the game.

Dave Zajac, Don Middaugh and Tom Dilauro notched two goals each for the winners with Jim Drewery, Bud Brock and George Motts each getting one. On the board for Johnson's were Glen Stevenson, Jerry Robertson, Ron Johnson, Guy Moise and Mike Dziurgot.

Futurama Engineering, the Bonkowski Division champ, was pushed to a third overtime before they managed to escape another upset-minded team, the Jock Shop. At the end of regulation time, each team had two goals. Futurama got its tallies from Dave Frankling and John Castellanos, while Jock's countered with Jerry Grube and Ed Ross.

The two teams couldn't break the deadlock during the next 10 minutes of the overtime and, at this point in Over 30 regulation, a showdown is run in which five skaters from each team take a shot on the opposing goalie, each team came up with two goals: Grube and Dennis Broge found the range for Jock's, while Frankling and Gordie Heebsh answered for futurama.

In the third overtime, Heebsh settled the issue by scoring the tie-breaker.

Extra Point Bar came up with four goals in the final 10 minutes to defeat Jack's Sports Center, 4-3. Jack's held a 2-0 edge on scores by Ron Wojewski and Bill Keshey and appeared on its way to victory.

However, E. P. replied with goals by Jack Bockstanz, Paul Cramer and Dave Fishwick to take a 3-2 lead. With seven minutes left, Wojewski scored to tie the game at three-all and with 1 1/2 minutes left on the clock Fishwick tallied again to give Extra Point the playoff victory.

years. Vicchy announced he would not be back with the team next year. He explained:

"I need a break (from coaching) right now," Vicchy said. "I want to take a year off from coaching. Get away from it. But I'm not going to get out of it altogether."

Poteau wins letter

Among those who were awarded volleyball letters for their participation on Western Michigan University's volleyball squad is a former Wayne Memorial athlete. Kim Poteau, a junior from Westland, was presented a letter for her efforts in volleyball. She was one of five players awarded her varsity stripe.

Coach Rob Buck's volleyball team posted a 20-13-6 over-all record last fall.

Sparks eye national title

Seeking an unprecedented seventh consecutive National Wheelchair Basketball Championship, the Westland Sparks will carry a 36-2 over-all record into the playoffs which got underway this week. The Sparks will defend their title on April 3 and 4 in Charlotte, North Carolina.

Wayne volleyballers runnerup in state

Wayne Memorial came within one victory of winning the 1980 Class A state volleyball championship.

Coach Doris Busuito's squad lost the coveted crown to Creston at the state tournament held over the weekend at Avondale High School.

"It's no disgrace to finish second in the state," said Coach Busuito. "These kids worked hard and long and we're all proud of them."

"The trophy we won was the first girls' team athletic trophy by any Wayne High squad in state competition," said Coach Busuito. "We have come a long way. Most of this squad will be returning, so we will hopefully have another contender a year from now."

Wayne earned a shot at the state title by rallying to a victory over Fraser in the semi-final rounds. The Zebras came up with an easy 15-4 win in the first set, then blew the second set 16-14 after leading by as much as eight points.

In the final and decisive match against Fraser, Wayne triumphantly marched off the court with a 15-8 victory.

The Zebras then took on Creston. And it appeared that the state title was theirs as they turned back their rivals 15-9 in the opening set.

However, Wayne's volleyball world began to collapse as the rallying Creston contingent came back and won a cliffhanger, 16-14 to force the issue into a third set.

Again, Creston needed a late surge to overcome the Wayne team. The state champs managed a close 15-11 decision to ice the state crown.

"What can you say?" Coach Buduito asked rhetorically. "It just wasn't in the books for us. But, hey, we're second best, aren't we?"

And you know what they say about second best, coach.

Canton cagers eliminated in first round of regional

six jumpers, but most of them came in the second half after the issue had been decided.

Adler and Westin were held in check all night long and each finished with 10 points.

Baskets by Westin and Houle and two by Adler countered to buckets each by Schafrank and Gaedke to knot the score, 8-8, after five minutes of play.

Moving the ball well, Taylor Center got fine outside shooting on the perimeter of the foul circle as Brian Griesinger hit two one-handers and Gaedke and Sarandrea each notched a basket close-in. Westin's basket with 2:05 left in the first quarter was Canton's last score as it trailed, 16-10, after one period.

Canton controlled the second-quarter tip, but took steps and the Rams Barry G. was the "G-Man" as he gunned in a 12-footer for an 18-10 margin. Canton missed a shot and then the other "G-man", Barry, connected for a 20-10 TC lead.

Then the Chiefs started their "comeback" which fell short, as they trailed the entire game. Houle dropped in two consecutive short shots, the second on a beautiful behind-the-back "feed" from Visser to cut it to 20-16. Canton's defense went man-to-man after a TC timeout and caused a turn-over that Adler turned into a 1-handed 15-foot basket.

Barry G. and Houle swapped baskets to make it 22-18 before Malek's right corner connection made it 22-20. Barry G. and Schafrank scored for Taylor Center and Houle grabbed Adler's short shot off the rim and put it back and in for a 26-22 Ram margin at intermission.

Visser hit a short one-hander from the left side to open the second half and Canton fans, which filled one side of the gym, felt their Chiefs would get one the "warpath." However, Gaedke hit over Canton's zone defense and both teams each missed two shots downcourt before Westin hit a 12-foot jumper from the left top of the key.

Trailing 28-26, Canton was stung underneath by Schafrank, but Westin drove the lane to cut it again to one basket, 30-28.

Here was the key juncture of the game. Schafrank again split Canton's zone to score and when Visser was called for an offensive charge, Sarandrea increased Taylor's edge to 34-28. Visser hit a 10-footer and Sarandrea answered with a 15-footer in front to put it at 36-30 with 2:27 left in the third quarter.

Canton did not get in the 1-and-1 free throw penalty situation until 3:06 was left and Houle sank both ends to make it 49-44, the closest the Chiefs came in the final four minutes of the game.

Western '6' coaches pick all-conference

Plymouth Canton, which came on strong in the latter part of the season and salvaged the Western Six Conference Basketball championship, placed one player on first team and two on second in all-conference selections this season.

Named to the first team is senior guard Dave Visser, who led the Chiefs throughout the 1979-80 campaign. Joining Visser on the first squad are Livonia Churchill's Brian Kersten, Waterford Mott's

Tom Schaefer, Farmington Harrison's Brian Burgess and Northville's Doug Ward.

Second team consideration went to Canton's Scott Adler, and Brad Westin, while Mott's Keith Hart, Dave Miller and Waterford's Scott Parrish were also picked.

Honorable mention went to Canton's junior Sean Houle, along with Mike Wagner (Northville), Mike Cleary (Harrison), and Mike Xenos (Walled Lake Western).

"A few good people"

Red Cross needs help

Red Cross is "looking for a few good people" to serve as volunteers in the many different service areas of the Southeastern Michigan Chapter, according to Betty Lynch, chairman of volunteers.

The Detroit-area chapter of the nation's largest voluntary organization has designated this week as "Volunteer Recruitment Week" in the tri-county area.

"Volunteering for Red Cross is a great service to the community," Lynch said. "But volunteers also get the opportunity to gain new skills or develop old or unused ones."

Volunteers are needed in the Western Wayne County area to work on bloodmobile units where they assist Red Cross nurses with non-medical duties such as registering blood donors, labeling and numbering blood containers, escorting donors to the canteen area and serving refreshments.

Individuals also are needed to serve as Red Cross hospital workers at Veterans Administration, Oakwood, Heritage, Henry Ford-Fairlane unit.

Opportunities as transportation assistants and administrative personnel are also available.

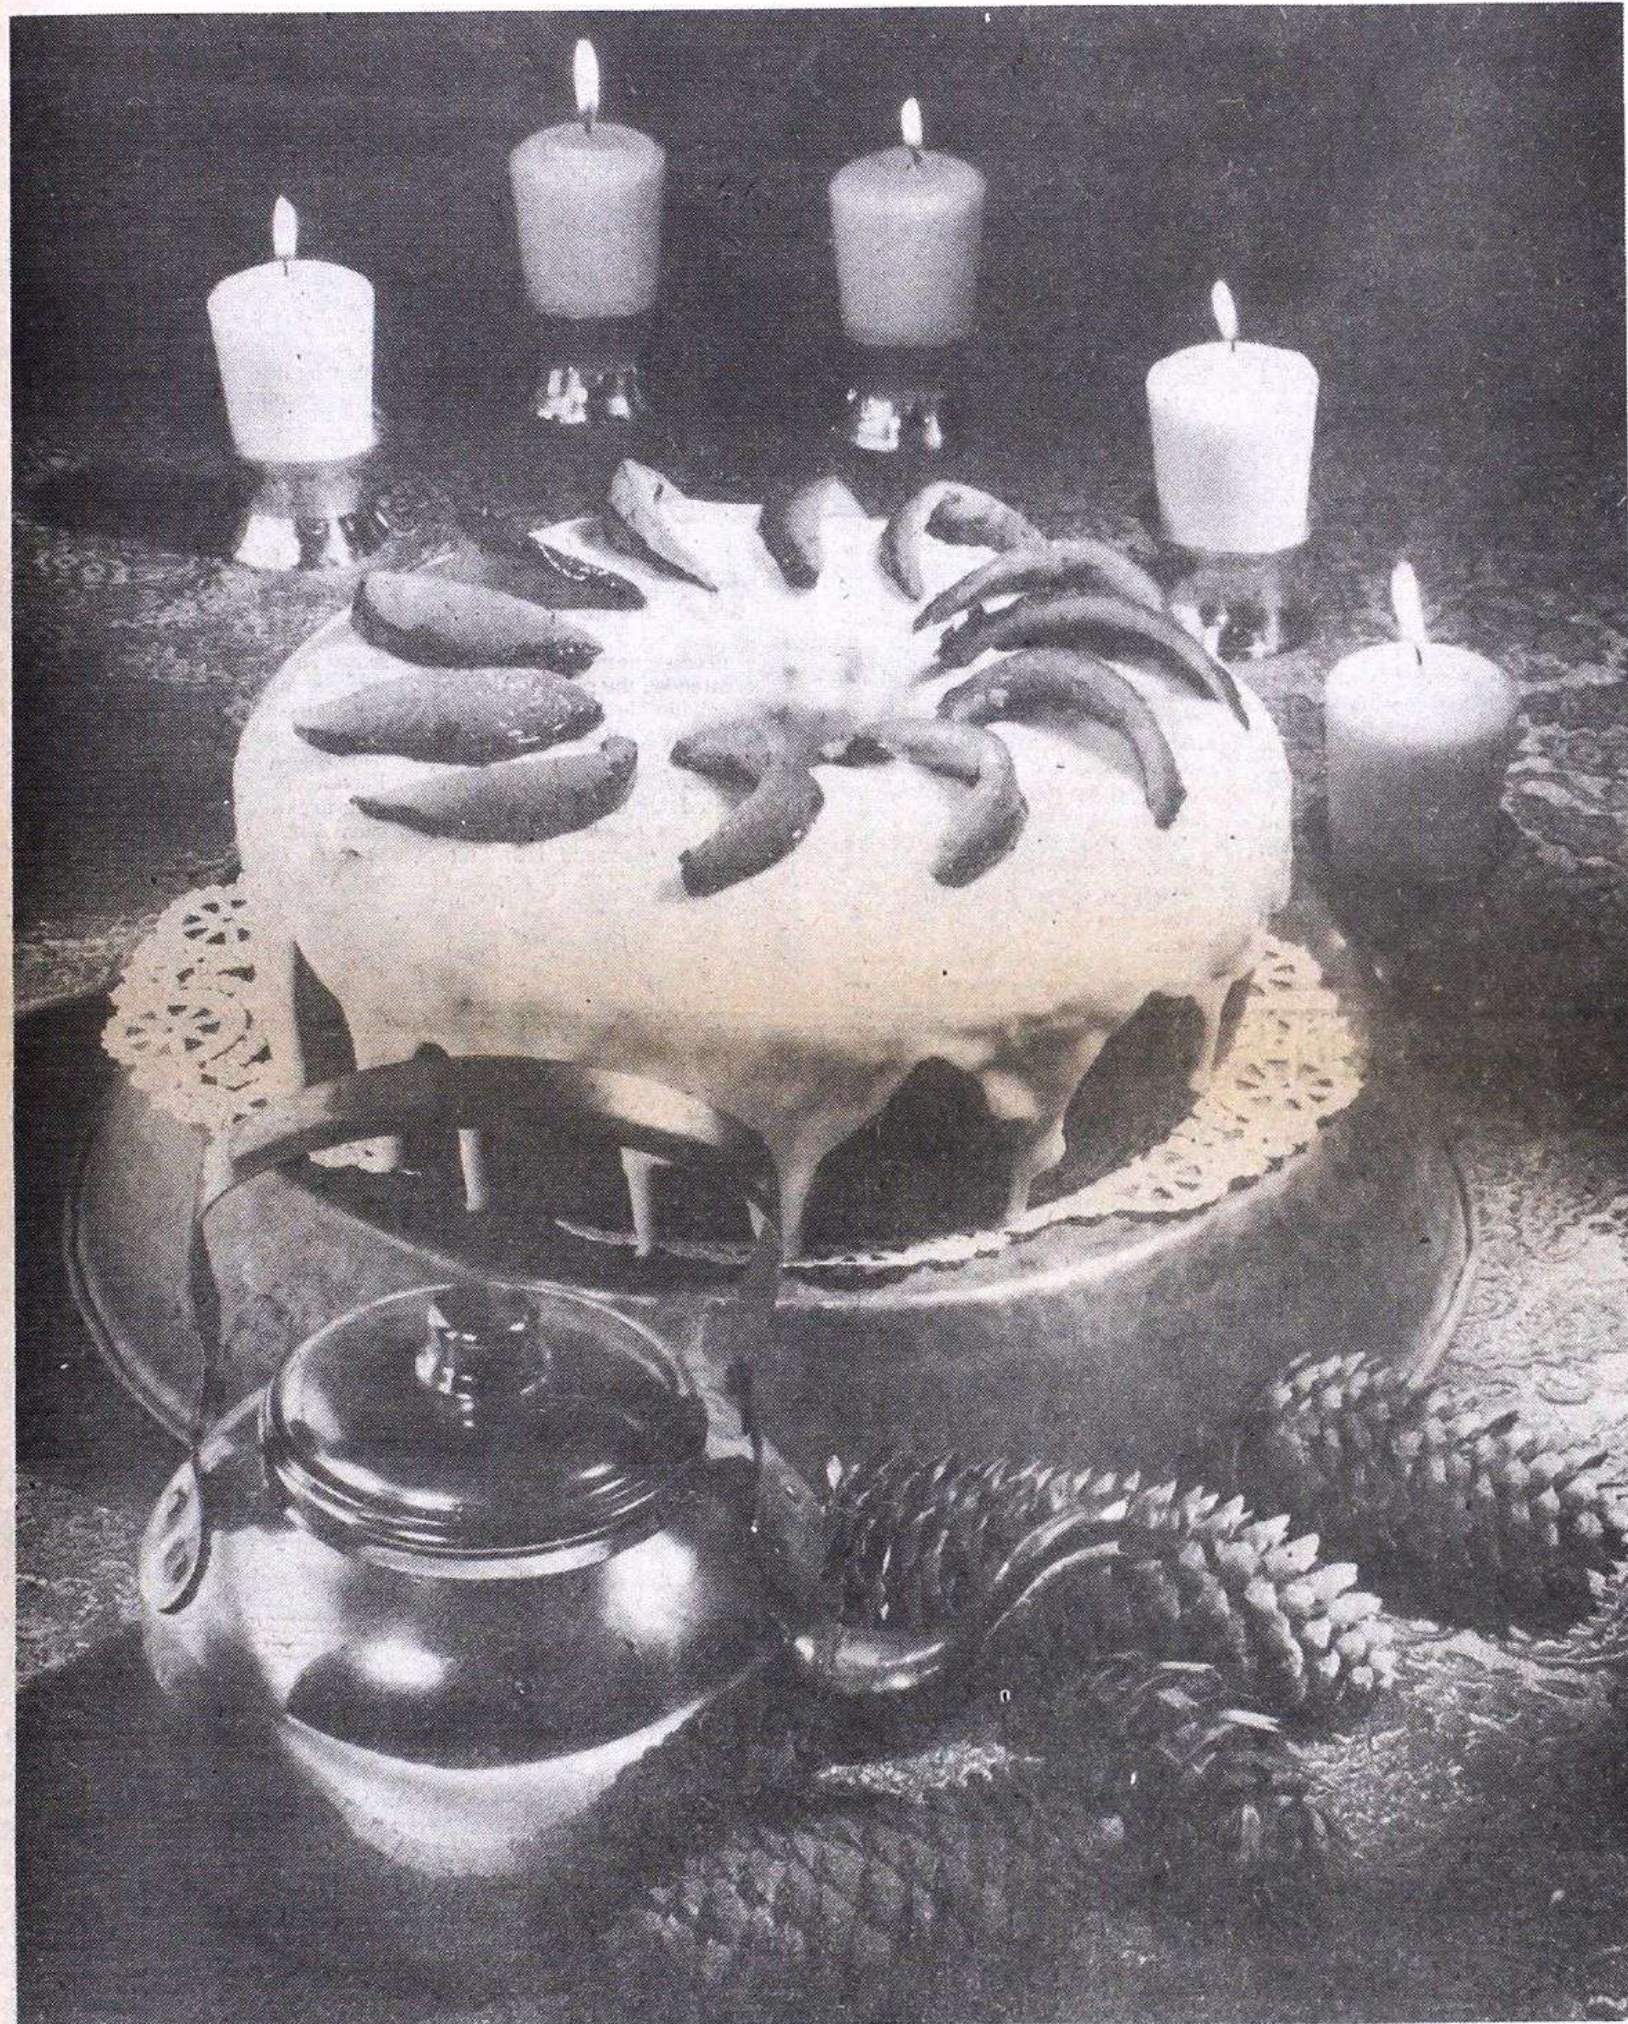

For more information, contact the Dearborn Regional Office at 274-5450.

Everyone likes baked potatoes, but how about potatoes baked into your next cake. This Feast Day Potato Cake includes instant mashed potato flakes. Top it off with a glaze and candied orange peel dipped in chocolate, and it will brighten any spring dinner table.

Potatoes: Perfect for cake baking

The spring season is a fun-filled time for everyone, but the everyday pressures of too much to do in too little time with too little budget to work with can cause problems.

One ingredient in your plans that won't demand much of your time or money is the ever popular, ever delicious potato. An autumn bumper crop of potatoes last year has assured consumers that potatoes will remain as economical and plentiful as always. Including potatoes in meals helps balance the high prices of other foods so you can afford to splurge a little on other items.

The potato's our most versatile vegetable and easily fits into any menu from casual to company best. It's mild earthy flavor is a perfect companion to any traditional entree, succulent turkey or goose, roast beef or sweet and spicy glazed ham. And most potato dishes are quite easy to prepare.

You might be surprised to know that potatoes can fit quite deliciously into your dessert plans too. Potatoes, fresh and instant, often are used in cakes, cookies and breads to add richness and moisture as a scrumptious Feast Day Potato Cake proves. A chocolate cake, flavored with a hint of orange, can be prepared ahead of time, too, and served the following day, without sacrificing freshness. Garnish with candied orange peel dipped in chocolate for the crowning touch and serve with your favorite specialty coffee for a festive dinner finale.

Feast Day Potato Cake

2 cups flour
2 cups sugar
1 cup instant mashed potato flakes
1 package (4 1/2 ounces) instant chocolate pudding mix
4 teaspoons baking powder

1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup butter or margarine, softened
1 cup milk
1 cup water
4 eggs
1 teaspoon grated orange peel
12 candied orange peel strips or 2 tablespoons diced candied orange peel
1 tablespoon melted semi-sweet chocolate
Glaze (recipe follows)

In large bowl, combine flour, sugar, potato flakes, pudding mix, baking powder, salt, butter, milk, water, eggs and grated orange peel. Beat with electric mixer at medium speed 4 minutes, scraping sides of bowl often. Pour into buttered and floured 10-inch tube pan. Bake in 350-degree oven 60 to 70 minutes, until pick inserted in center comes out clean and cake pulls away from sides of pan. Cool in pan 30 minutes; invert onto serving plate to cool completely.

Dip half of each orange peel strip in melted chocolate. Set on waxed paper to dry. Spoon glaze over top of cake, allowing it to drip down sides. Arrange orange peel strips on top of cake, or sprinkle top of cake with diced candied orange peel and drizzle with chocolate. Makes 1 10-inch cake (12 servings).

Glaze

1 1/2 cups powdered sugar
1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine
2 tablespoons milk
1/4 teaspoon vanilla

In small bowl, combine sugar and butter. Gradually beat in milk until smooth; mix in vanilla. If necessary, add additional sugar or milk to make a glaze of correct consistency to drip down sides of cake.

When you sit down to pen a column almost one week prior to its publication, you always take the chance that the very topic on which you touch will already have (1) become extinct (2) been changed from AC to DC (3) or is stale as yesterday's headlines.

When one is foolish enough to settle on the weather for a column's "food-for-thought", the writer is most likely (1) pretty daring (2) pretty optimistic (3) pretty stupid. Or, in the Hollywood vernacular of these pre-Oscar days, perhaps a "three" on the elevator of common sense.

In hopes that the last bits of this tardy winter's remnants — the depressing grey snow, its slushy and puddled aftermath and the bitingly cold winds — will have found themselves another target, yours truly will dwell for a few lines on Sonny Elliott's favorite topic. (DO remember, this bit for a coffee break is being typed last Thursday, March 13, when we were hearing alternate threats and reprieves from the ol' weather stations on that "last big storm of the winter.")

With our little trio coming in from Chicago's northside that evening and our WMU junior due in a day later, this gal was naturally a bit concerned with driving conditions. And — having done the 45-some-odd miles between Tecumseh and Belleville that very A.M., she was aware that tooling down the highway could have its icy pluses and minuses. Or, as all you armchair psychiatrists would say, "The old mama hen (worried mother) syndrome." Co-RRECT!

Now that I've beaten around several ice-laden bushes, I'm back to being that optimist I mentioned earlier and want to remind you that -- no matter what the elements have handed us today -- Friday, the day after tomorrow, is the first day of spring. And if that's like telling you there really is an Easter Bunny and tooth fairy, then you'll want to believe that Mother Nature is gonna wave her devining rod and bless us with warmth, sunshine and suddenly blooming bulbs. ... NOT rain!

And, gang, it's all really possible! One year ago, March 21, 1979, the first day of spring was a gloriously beautiful, calm and shirt-sleeve-warm Wednesday. We KNOW since that's the day we spent moving into our new home (and NOT out on the golf course with other delirious duffers.) A few days earlier it had been absolutely damp, dank and shivery.

See? There're always hopes that spring really IS on the calendar.

Seniority-wise, Bert Osterberg and I hold honors here at the Belleville office and, because of that, we feel justified when, prompted by certain subjects, we come up with one of those "good old days" exchanges.

One of the nicest memories we share goes back to the days when our paper was printed in New Boston at Glenn Rotary and we spent each Tuesday dummyming in and proof-reading our pages. We managed THOSE jobs singularly, but when it came to the legals and other descriptive notices we collaborated, taking turns reading aloud or perusing our subjects. And THAT was the only boring part of our day at G.R.

The Glenn staff was really a fun group and its two "bosses" -- (using the term fondly) -- topnotch! Someday (when my husband isn't looking) I'm going to devote a little space to Dennis -- one of the nicest, most gorgeous fellas I know -- but today it's his right-hand gal, Doris Allard, to whom we're giving ink.

Doris, who was a harbinger to spring for her family back in 1915, will hit that special spot -- the 65-plateau -- when the dawn breaks tomorrow, March 20.

Yes, Doris, once again those little "stool pigeons" out there in the workroom have let it be known you're gonna have a birthday! Having been with Glenn (now Glenn PRINTING) for some 30 years, Doris is in charge of about a dozen employees. A resident of Belleville -- and I have to remark on the coincidence that SHE now lives in the house that was BG's and my first little home -- she has a daughter, Kea (now Mrs. Bill Strubank of Ypsilanti), a grandson, Ron, his wife, Darlene, and a very special little guy, R.K., her great-grandson, with whom to share an interesting and happy life.

TRIVIA -- The American Indian never used the term "happy hunting grounds". It was coined by the white man.

Old-age wedding custom in Siberia called for the bridegroom to tear the clothes off his bride's back when the ceremony was completed.

Mae West, 86-year-old sex symbol, has only made 12 movies in her lifetime.

LOOKING BACK on this day in history, we found nothing of earth-shaking significance BUT one day earlier, on March 18, we learned the following: That in 1837 the University of Michigan was chartered in Ann Arbor as a state university. It had been preceded by a founding of the U-M in 1817 but this institution never taught on a college level. The university opened its doors in 1841 and was awarded its first degrees in 1845.

OTHER NOTABLE MARCH HAPPENINGS: The first print patent in the United States was issued on March 7, 1893, to the H. J. Heinz Company of Pittsburgh, Pa. for its special advertising symbol. In the shape of a pickle, the print advertised Heinz' preserves celery sauce and ketchup. The famed Heinz industry began in the basement of H. J. Heinz' childhood home which is now one of the many historic structures which make up Greenfield Village in Dearborn.

E. Remington and Sons of Ilion, N. Y. became the first company to manufacture a practical typewriter under a contract dated March 1, 1873. The machine, which would revolutionize the business world, had two rows of black walnut keys with letters painted on them in white. All letters were in capitals, with numerals two through nine, a comma and a period. Six months after the contract was signed, the first machine went on the market.

With "Sophie's Choice" having been on the best seller list for weeks and weeks just a short time ago, it was with pleasure that I found it in the new books section at the library and NOT on the usual waiting list. (Now I know why!)

Never having read anything by William Styron, who also penned "The Confessions of Nat Turner" which got him the Pulitzer prize, I was a bit dismayed at his rather long-winded style of writing ... sentences overly long and paragraphs doubly so.

But I was determined not to give up as I had so often on Michener, one of the "greats" I just can't seem to get into. Reiterating -- the long-windedness of "Sophie" (515 pages) is coupled with the author's penchant for 50-dollar words. And I'd be willing to bet that you, too, don't relish such verbiage as priapism, odalisques, solipsistic, mnemonic, amanuensis, thaumatarges, coprolalia, recitativ. Who wants one eye on the novel and the other constantly on the dictionary?

Had Styron knocked off a few hundred paragraphs of explicit sex scenes and unnecessarily repulsive language and dwell more on the story of Sophie's internship in a Nazi concentration camp, a reader might feel justified in completing the book. And, just because I've already suffered through the first and most boring half, I am sticking with it out of sheer stubbornness -- mainly, because those last few chapters seem to be where the story really is.

Those who enjoy fast, refreshing reading won't be requesting this dragged-out narrative about a trio of complex and boring characters.

THE BOTTOM LINE: The honeymoon is over when she starts wondering what happened to the man she married and he starts wondering what happened to the girl he didn't.

MSU experts answer your garden queries

As spring gets closer, the gardening questions begin to pour in. Michigan State University Extension horticulturists answer timely queries on flower gardening, vegetables, houseplants and related topics:

Q. What's the best soil mixture for growing flower and vegetable transplants?

A. There's probably no one best growing medium. Popular alternatives include a soilless mixture made of equal parts peat and perlite (or sand or vermiculite), or equal parts garden soil, sand (or perlite or vermiculite) and peat. Any growing medium must meet three requirements: it must hold water, it must provide for drainage and aeration, and it must be sterile. To do all these things, a soil mix usually contains an organic material like peat moss, sphagnum, well rotted leaf compost or rotted manure; and a coarse material like sand, vermiculite or perlite.

To protect fragile seedlings against disease organisms, the medium must be sterilized. This is especially important with homemade mixtures that include garden soil. Such mixtures can be sterilized in an oven. Dampen the soil, spread it in shallow pans and cover with aluminum foil. Then bake the soil for an hour at 300 degrees. This should kill any disease organisms, as well as insect pests. For an added bit of insurance, wash all flats or other seed containers in hot soapy water, and then disinfect them by dipping in a solution of 10 parts water and 1 part chlorine bleach.

Q. When's the best time to repot my houseplants? And how do I know that they need it?

A. Houseplants usually do most of their growing during the long days of summer, so late winter or early spring is usually a good time to repot any that have outgrown their containers. The best way to tell whether plants are rootbound is to tip them out of their pots and examine the rootballs. If the ball of soil is one mass of white roots, with very little soil visible, it's time for a new pot. (In extreme cases, plants may push themselves right up out of their containers.) Repot in fresh soil and the next larger sized pot. Plants that have been doing poorly should perk up under the combined influence of increased light and more root room.

Q. Can I fertilize my asparagus now?

A. Yes. Fertilize asparagus before growth begins in the spring and again in July, after harvest is completed. Hand-sprinkle about three cups of a commercial garden fertilizer such as 5-20-20 or 12-12-12 per 50 feet of row. Broadcast the fertilizer over the bed and work in.

Q. Was I imagining things, or was there really a shrub in flower during February?

A. You could have been imagining things — or you could have seen a witch-hazel in blossom. Witch-hazel is a shrub or shrubby tree, that, depending on the species, blooms anytime from late December through March. Flowers may be yellow or reddish. The four petals unwind on warm days and curl up tight on cold ones. A planting of witch-hazel can be quite dramatic in an otherwise drab winter landscape.

Q. The lower leaves on my African violets seem to be rotting and falling off. What's going on?

A. The problem is called petiole rot. It occurs when the lower leaves rest on the rim of the pot. They get droopy, then turn brown and soft and eventually shrivel up. This happens when fertilizer salts build up over time and injure the fragile stems. Remove drooping leaves and cover pot rims with foil or tape to prevent further problems.

Q. What does it mean when mold grows in containers of soil for transplants? What can I do about it?

A. Orange and yellow molds are commonly the first colonizers of pasteurized soil. They can be unsightly but do no harm to the plants. Stirring the soil surface and allowing it to dry will usually make them disappear.

Q. I've had an anthurium in my home for year, but it's never flowered. It was blooming when I got it, so I know it can do it. What does it need that it's not getting?

A. To flower, the anthurium, or flamingo flower, needs high humidity, warm temperatures — 80-

Q. It looks like the amaryllis I got for Christmas is making seeds. Suppose I planted them — how long would it be before I had bulbs big enough to flower?

A. It usually takes three to four years to get flowers from amaryllis grown from seed. Propagating by cutting the bulb into lengthwise segments, so that each segment has a portion of the basal plate, is an equally slow process. Removing bulblets is a little quicker — it may take a year or so off the wait. If you decide to try propagating your amaryllis, be prepared to be patient — there aren't any shortcuts.

Q. I've had an anthurium in my home for year, but it's never flowered. It was blooming when I got it, so I know it can do it. What does it need that it's not getting?

A. To flower, the anthurium, or flamingo flower, needs high humidity, warm temperatures — 80-

FICTION

"The Devil's Alternative" by Frederick Forsyth. It is 1982 and a man is rescued, near-naked and unconscious, from a skiff floating in the Black Sea swell off the coast of Turkey. A few fateful months later the world stands at the brink of the Unthinkable as men and women in Washington, Moscow and London, Berlin, Tel Aviv and Rotterdam, struggle against the ticking countdown to doom. How this seemingly insignificant beginning leads inexorably to so cosmically threatening a climax provides the narrative backbone of Forsyth's overwhelming and long-awaited new novel.

"The Benefit" by Nick Mayo. Louis Levine's Liberation Army consists of six older people who are fed up with the way folks their age are treated in the United States. They decide to do what young people sometimes do; they turn to violence to get the country to pay attention to their demands.

"Callander Square" by Anne Perry. This delightful Victorian mystery features a most unusual sleuth; a well-brought-up young woman named Charlotte Ellison Pitt. Having defied the mores of the upper class and married a policeman, Charlotte finds herself interested in one of her husband's most appalling cases.

BIOGRAPHY

"Ladd — the Life, the Legend, the Legacy of Alan Ladd" by Beverly Linet. Alan Ladd — he "blazed across the screen like a young Greek god" in the 1940's and 1950's in such films as "This Gun for Hire," "The Blue Dahlia" and "Shane" to become one of Hollywood's biggest stars. Yet on Jan. 29, 1964, at the age of 50, he died, alone, from a combination of pills and alcohol.

"Man of the Family" by Ralph Owen Moody. "Man of the Family," like Moody's earlier best seller, "Little Britches," is a story of the warmth and joy of close family relationships, a story of a boy's growing up, a story of ingenuity and perseverance that is typically American.

Minority women invited to Career Awareness Day

Washtenaw Community College will host a career awareness day for minority women on March 27 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. The public is welcome to attend this event at no charge. It will feature Michelle Wallace, author who has been closely associated with the feminist movement.

The morning session of the day will be spent talking with "minority women of Washtenaw County who are employed in a variety of careers," explains Faye Dant, coordinator of the event. "Participants will have the opportunity to ask questions and receive a brief overview of the Michigan Occupational Information System in order to learn more about their particular areas of interest."

During the afternoon session, Michelle Wallace, author of the controversial best seller, "Black Macho and the Myth of the Super Woman," will discuss "the sexual politics of the Black experience in America and the Black female-male relationship."

Questions regarding the event should be directed to WCC staff at (313) 973-3528.

Jean Flavell named to head Study Club

Seventeen members and two guests attended the regular meeting of the Belleville Woman's Study Club March 12 at the Lemontree clubhouse.

The program for the evening was coordinated by the Public Affairs Committee with Avis White as chairman. Her husband, Don White, showed a film, "The Principles of Free Enterprise" featuring Richard DeVos, president and co-founder of the Amway Corporation. Mrs. White followed with a reading of a poem, humorously illustrating free enterprise in action.

Election of officers, which was the highlight of the business meeting, had the following results: Jean Flavell, president; Arlene Smith, vice-president; Marge Emerson, recording secretary; Yvonne Harner, corresponding secretary, and Avis White, treasurer.

Co-hostesses, Marian Paulsen and Lois Hamilton, served refreshments before the group departed.

Mrs. Ryback is head librarian at Trenton High School and the wife of Ernest Ryback, a local attorney. Together they toured Poland last summer, both as members of a tour group and together by automobile.

Their colorful slides of interesting places they visited include Wododice, the birthplace of Pope John Paul II; Warsaw, Krakow, Zakopane, Auschwitz and the Lublin area.

The Huron Valley Garden Club met for its March meeting at the Riggs Road home of Jan MacDermid with 10 members answering roll call. The hostess, who is club vice-president, conducted the meeting in the absence of Shirley Books.

A report on conservation, given by Charlotte Budd, included information on the clean up of Lake Erie during the past two years and also on the plantings planned along the route from Metro Airport to Detroit to improve the countryside for those coming to visit the Motor City. It is hoped by the DNA that the horticulture work can be extended farther along the I-75 and I-94 freeways.

The April meeting at the home of Gladys Mast will be held a week later than usual because of Easter vacation, on April 14. Members will meet at 10 a.m. for a work session and are to bring along a sack lunch.

Following adjournment the group worked on arrangements and crafts which are to be sold at the Strawberry Festival.

Quotes worth quoting...

"Failures are usually the most conceited of men."

D. H. Lawrence said it.

Keep chimneys creosote free

Generally, home heating with wood is comparatively economical and enjoyable. You can keep it that way with good safety maintenance.

A persistent hazard is the accumulation of creosote in chimneys. Creosote is a flammable material deposited by wood smoke in the chimney or stovepipe. It can erupt in flame, sometimes with tragic consequences.

This potential hazard can be eliminated with good housekeeping, says Howard J. Doss, Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service safety specialist.

Inspect the chimney or stovepipe about once a month. Clean the chimney, flue or stovepipe at least once a year, depending on creosote formation during the wood-burning season.

The best way to remove creosote is to give the chimney a good scrubbing with wire brushes. Chimney-cleaning kits are available from most stores selling home heating equipment. In some communities, chimney sweep services are available.

The amount of buildup will vary with how much wood is burned and how often, and how hot the fire is. Characteristics of the pipe or masonry of the chimney can also influence creosote buildup.

You can take steps to reduce creosote buildup. One is the frequent addition of small amounts of wood to the fire — this makes it burn evenly. Maintaining moderately hot fires — so that the flue temperature is just above 250 degrees F. — reduces condensation and formation of creosote deposits.

Even dry wood contributes to creosote buildup. But wood that has been dried for nine months or more leaves less creosote than green wood or pine. If you must use green wood, try to mix it up with dry wood for a hotter fire. Greenwood makes for a cool, smokey fire that produces creosote deposits in the chimney or stovepipe.

No matter how careful you are, there is always the chance of a chimney fire. Indications of a fire include a distinct crackling noise in the chimney, and the whoosh of air being rapidly drawn into the stove, which quickly develops into a roar. The stove may suddenly start to shake, the stovepipe turns red, and sparks and flames may shoot out of the top of the chimney.

If you choose to combat the fire while the fire department is on its way, do so as calmly as possible. If you must use water, be aware that it can severely damage the stove and chimney. Your home should have a sizable (five-pound or larger) fire extinguisher, preferably the ABC-type (dry chemical), which can be used safely on just about any type of fire. Regular Co2 extinguishers may also be used. The best fire suppression tool is a flare-like extinguisher specifically designed for chimney fires. These can be obtained through fireplace shops or fire extinguisher outlets.

First, direct the fire extinguisher discharge at the base of the fire, being careful not to scatter flaming embers all over the floor. When the flame begins to subside, discharge the extinguisher contents up the chimney.

If you've taken these measures, the fire should rapidly begin to decline in intensity. If the situation appears to be worsening, seal the stove or fireplace opening and get out of the house. Leave the matter to firemen. Don't try to be a hero. After the fire is out, carefully inspect the chimney for damage. Be sure to clean the chimney thoroughly before using it again.

New store has many features

Service Merchandise Company, Inc., one of the nation's largest catalog showroom operators, opened its third showroom in the greater Detroit area last week in Westland, at 7368 Nankin Blvd., across from the Westland Center.

Service Merchandise President Raymond Zimmerman said the new facility contains 68,390 square feet and will be managed by Jack Lohrey.

"We are extremely pleased to open our third unit in the Detroit area," said the president of the Nashville, Tenn.-based corporation.

"This investment by Service Merchandise is evidence of the confidence we have in the future of the area this showroom will serve.

"The catalog showroom concept is growing throughout the nation," he said. "It provides value-minded shoppers with first quality, name-brand merchandise at the lowest possible prices."

Other Service Merchandise showrooms in the Detroit area are located at Clinton Valley Mall in Sterling Heights and Southgate Shopping Center in Southgate.

The new showroom will feature a broad line of jewelry, diamonds, and nationally advertised hard goods merchandise such as housewares, small appliances, giftwares, silverware, cameras, luggage, radios, televisions, and other home electronic equipment and accessories. It will also offer a wide range of quality toys, sporting goods and home and garden equipment.

The Westland showroom will be the 102nd unit which the company operates over a 23 state area.

and accessories, toys, sporting goods, and home and garden equipment.

The Company believes its prices are competitive with other retailers operating on high volume, low profit margin principles.

SMC has expanded its operations from 30 at calendar year end, 1974 to 35 at calendar year end, 1975; 43 at calendar year end, 1976; 51 at calendar year end, 1977; 84 at calendar year end, 1978; and 92 at September 30, 1979.

The Company's operating territory at September 30, 1979, included the states of Alabama, Arkansas, Connecticut, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Mississippi, Missouri,

New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Tennessee and Vermont.

Throughout the major portion of the Company's history, its primary promotional effort has been made through a full-color annual fall catalog of approximately 500 pages, which lists nearly 20,000 merchandise items featured for sale through all of the firm's catalog showrooms.

The Company's mailing shopper list has expanded from 230,000 at calendar year end, 1971, to more than 3,000,000 at calendar year end, 1978. In addition to the large fall catalog, the Company mails a spring catalog of approximately 160 pages and several flyers during the year of about 32-48 pages each.

Every SMC showroom maintains an inventory of substantially all catalog items as well as some merchandise not listed in the catalogs. Additionally, at every showroom location, an adjacent warehouse (physically part of the premises) is maintained to support sales. SMC maintains a policy of leasing most of its showroom locations and substantially all of the related furniture, equipment and fixtures.

The method of selling merchandise in every SMC catalog showroom is identical and designed for the convenience of the customer.

Customers shopping self-service sections (toys, sporting goods, home and garden equipment) select merchandise from shelves and make purchases through nearby checkout counters.

Customers shopping in other sections (jewelry, camera, silverware, housewares, electronics, and other departments) select merchandise desired, complete order forms, and proceed to a central location in the showroom for processing and payment. The item(s) are then picked up by the customer at the showroom exit.

The Company's management feels that the merchandise procedure reduces selling space and merchandise handling requirements, expedites customer traffic and thus is a positive measure in curtailing inventory shrinkage and providing for the customer's convenience.

SMC purchases merchandise from approximately 1,000 active suppliers, the majority of which are manufacturers and none of which account for more than 5% of the Company's purchases.

While most merchandise is shipped directly from suppliers to the showrooms, some items are distributed from the Company's Nashville distribution center through a fleet of leased tractor trailers.

Merchandise distributed from the Nashville center is usually in large quantities, or has been purchased well in advance of the product's selling season, to capitalize on lower prices and has also been price tagged to relieve the showrooms of this heavy burden.

NEW VOTERS
There are about 31,000,000 Americans potentially qualified to vote for the first time in this fall's election, some by virtue of the lowering of the voting age, others by the Voting Rights Act Amendments of 1970, plus those 21 to 24 year olds who have become eligible since the last presidential election.

People are almost unanimous in their approval of Associated Newspapers Classified Ads. That's because they get results they like - cash for good things they no longer need. So when you have something you'd like to sell, (look around now), dial 729-3300 and get fast action.

NEW VOTERS
There are about 31,000,000 Americans potentially qualified to vote for the first time in this fall's election, some by virtue of the lowering of the voting age, others by the Voting Rights Act Amendments of 1970, plus those 21 to 24 year olds who have become eligible since the last presidential election.

People are almost unanimous in their approval of Associated Newspapers Classified Ads. That's because they get results they like - cash for good things they no longer need. So when you have something you'd like to sell, (look around now), dial 729-3300 and get fast action.

Haggard concerts a success

Michigan Opry in Wayne

'...be here a long time'

By GAIL JORGENSEN
(Special to Playtime)

We were glad to see the Okie from Muskogee. Both of Merle Haggard's performances at the Michigan Opry in Wayne last Saturday night were virtually sell-outs. That meant, of course, an exciting evening with Haggard for about 2500 country music fans.

And just as importantly, it means continued success for the Michigan Opry.

Lowell Beasley, president of the country music company which recently leased the old State Theater in Wayne, was obviously pleased with the response to their third concert.

"We'll be here a long time," he promised. "We're not going under."

He added, however, that the Opry has many improvements planned. "People won't just be paying to see a big name, like Haggard, or Conway Twitty, but for the total experience," Beasley said.

They plan to do extensive remodeling before midsummer, to give the theater more of a country atmosphere. "For one thing, we'll get those dragons off the wall!" Beasley began (referring to the huge, day-glo murals painted in bygone years).

He said they'll have a new marquee, a more-professional set-up for the concessions, "and the employees will be dressed up in western outfits."

The Opry also hopes to have a liquor license soon.

With each concert, the young Opry owners gain more experience, of course. The time schedules have been a big problem so far, with the early shows running late, which left the next audience waiting in the cold. To avoid this problem, the Opry will be cutting down the time allotted to the opening acts (local artists).

"It's bound to affect customers' attitudes when we herd them out the back doors like cattle," Beasley apologized, "and it was worse for those waiting outside."

However, like the Johnny Paycheck concert a month ago, the Haggard show was worth a little inconvenience. Merle Haggard is a legend in country music for many reasons, but his patriotism and love of American tradition in the well-known "Okie from Muskogee" and "The Fightin' Side of Me" have once again become relevant, with the Iranian crisis and U.S. victories in the olympics. The house fairly exploded when Haggard sang these songs.

In a brief press conference before the show, Haggard answered the inevitable question about his patriotism very definitely. "The United States has a lot of problems now, but it's still the best place to be. If you aren't patriotic, why are you here?" (No one dared to answer!)

He added that many people have told him that they didn't like "Okie" when it came out about 10 years ago, but they've since changed their minds. "I think they grew up."

Haggard sat on the edge of the table swinging his feet. He is a quiet man, taciturn, obviously more at ease singing. You listen to his words but are more intrigued by his large expressive eyes and that one cocked eyebrow.

"My Life's Been Grand" is the working title of a book he's writing about his life. He explained matter-of-factly that yes, he'd been in a lot of trouble when growing up, he'd been in prison, but he "wouldn't trade anything he'd been through."

Interestingly, when asked how he might have ended up if it hadn't been for his music, he speculated that it was music that made him act as he did. He'd believed a country singer should have "authentic" experiences like riding freight trains and breaking the law. "I thought I needed a well to dig from, so I dug a well," he smiled wryly.

Also in the interview, Haggard said that he would never make a crossover from country music to pop, although he disliked categorizing performers, because "an artist is an artist."

In the show, Haggard's songs and singing were still pure country, his dress was simple and dignified — but his 10-piece band, the Strangers, have definitely picked up some cues from the pop and jazz fields. (Would you believe even a saxophone?) The band's sound and arrangements were excellent, but didn't really fit Merle's style and sometimes even upstaged his singing.

Particularly in the first few numbers, the focus of the music was a bit uncertain. In "I Wear My Own Kind of Hat," for example, Haggard kept breaking off to showcase various band members. Having always liked Haggard for his beautiful expressive voice and his individualism, I felt much better when the band quieted down as he slid into "Rambling Fever."

In fact, midway through the show, Haggard stopped to say that there were problems in his sound system — "It sounds like... ahem!" After some quick changes, the Strangers did soften, and his beautiful "Today I Started Loving You Again" was given the simple poignancy it deserved.

And the band — with Merle flying on the fiddle — was fantastic on the all-instrumental number which followed, and the hoedown sound of "Cindy."

Merle Haggard will be back at the Michigan Opry June 22. The next show will be Hank Williams Jr. on March 21, and Conway Twitty will be here March 29. Call 721-2100 for ticket information.

On way to stardom

Hamill overcame obstacles

Olympic Gold medalist Dorothy Hamill encountered and overcame many obstacles on her journey to stardom, and now she is helping and inspiring others to achieve their goals. She will enchant you when the Ice Capades come to the Joe Louis Sports Arena now through March 23.

The 23-year-old star of "Ice Capades" dream originated 15 years ago at a pond in Riverside, Conn., where she laced up her first pair of ice skates that she received for Christmas.

"Like anyone going onto the ice for the first time, I had the wobbles and my share of falls," Dorothy laughed. "But I caught on quickly and became fascinated by the spins and jumps other skaters were doing."

Recognizing the interest and determination Dorothy had for the sport, her parents enrolled her into a group skating class which soon switched to private lessons. Skating became an all-consuming part of her life. By the time she was 10 years old, she spent her days by rising before dawn for practice, going to school, more practice after class and getting to sleep by 9 p.m. Her summers were spent at Lake Placid, Tulsa, or Toronto, wherever her coaches were. The two coaches most responsible for her success were Gustav Lassi and Carlo Fassi.

"Being devoted to the sport and wanting to be the best skater in the world meant sacrificing other areas of my personal life," Dorothy said. "Although I did try to date occasionally in my teens, I still missed out on going to many parties and other taken-for-granted activities. By the time I was 14, I was practicing five hours a day and from 16 to 18 it was up to eight hours."

But she didn't regret giving up her social events. In 1969 when Dorothy was 12, won her first major title, the National Novice Ladies Championship. From that point on, her competitive trail was studded with triumphs — a total of 37 hard-earned trophies, medals and cups representing a long list of stunning achievements. She attracted international attention at the World Championship in Munich in 1974, winning the silver medal and then going on to become the 3-time U.S. Champion, and in 1976, the Olympic and World Champion.

After obtaining the highest title in amateur skating, Dorothy reevaluated her career goals and decided to join the professional ranks. Unlike many other sports, the public considers ice skating a spectacle. This year marks her third season with Ice Capades.

"I've really enjoyed skating for Ice Capades and entertaining the public," she said. "In competitive skating you have to do all those compulsory figures. Now I don't, so I can concentrate more on expressing myself to the audience."

But life on-the-road isn't filled with continuous glamour and excitement. Dorothy performs once or twice a day, six days a week. She must still maintain her high degree of self-discipline to be at her best.

The 5'3" brunette also has turned her interests to teaching handicapped and blind children. She was influenced to enter the field when she saw a skating exhibition by a blind teen-ager in Wilmington, Del.

"I was amazed," the national chairperson for the March of Dimes Reading Olympics said. "He was doing some jumps and spins that are used in competition."

"This teaching has been very rewarding for me, and it's astounding how well these kids do. I tell them what has to be done, have them feel the position of their arms, and then they follow through on their own."

Earlier this year, Dorothy was at the White House to be sworn in as a member of the President's Council on Physical Fitness. At that time, she presented First Lady Rosalynn Carter and her daughter Amy, with a caricature of herself and Amy ice skating.

Dorothy learned that success is earned through hard work, discipline and dedication. Many young people have modeled themselves after her, making them closer to their goals everyday.

Don't miss the grace and poise of Olympic Gold Medalist Dorothy Hamill when the Ice Capades come to Detroit.

Ticket prices are $5, $6, $7 and $8 — all seats are reserved. Children 14 and under and senior citizens will receive $2 off at the 7:30 p.m. performances Wednesday and Thursday, at 4 p.m. Friday and at the Saturday performances — 12 and 4 p.m. Tickets are available at Cobo Arena Box Office, Windsor Arena, Hudson's and Randolph Travel and Tours - Birmingham. For further information call 962-2000.

DSO, Garden Club to stage extravaganza

The Detroit Symphony Orchestra will join with the Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan to bring Detroit area residents and the State of Michigan a music-floral extravaganza April 10-12 on the grounds of the Edsel and Eleanor Ford House in Grosse Pointe Shores.

The Brahms Festival Flower Show, fashioned after the internationally famous Chelsea Show in London, England, heralds the International Brahms Festival presented by the DSO and Music Director Antal Dorati.

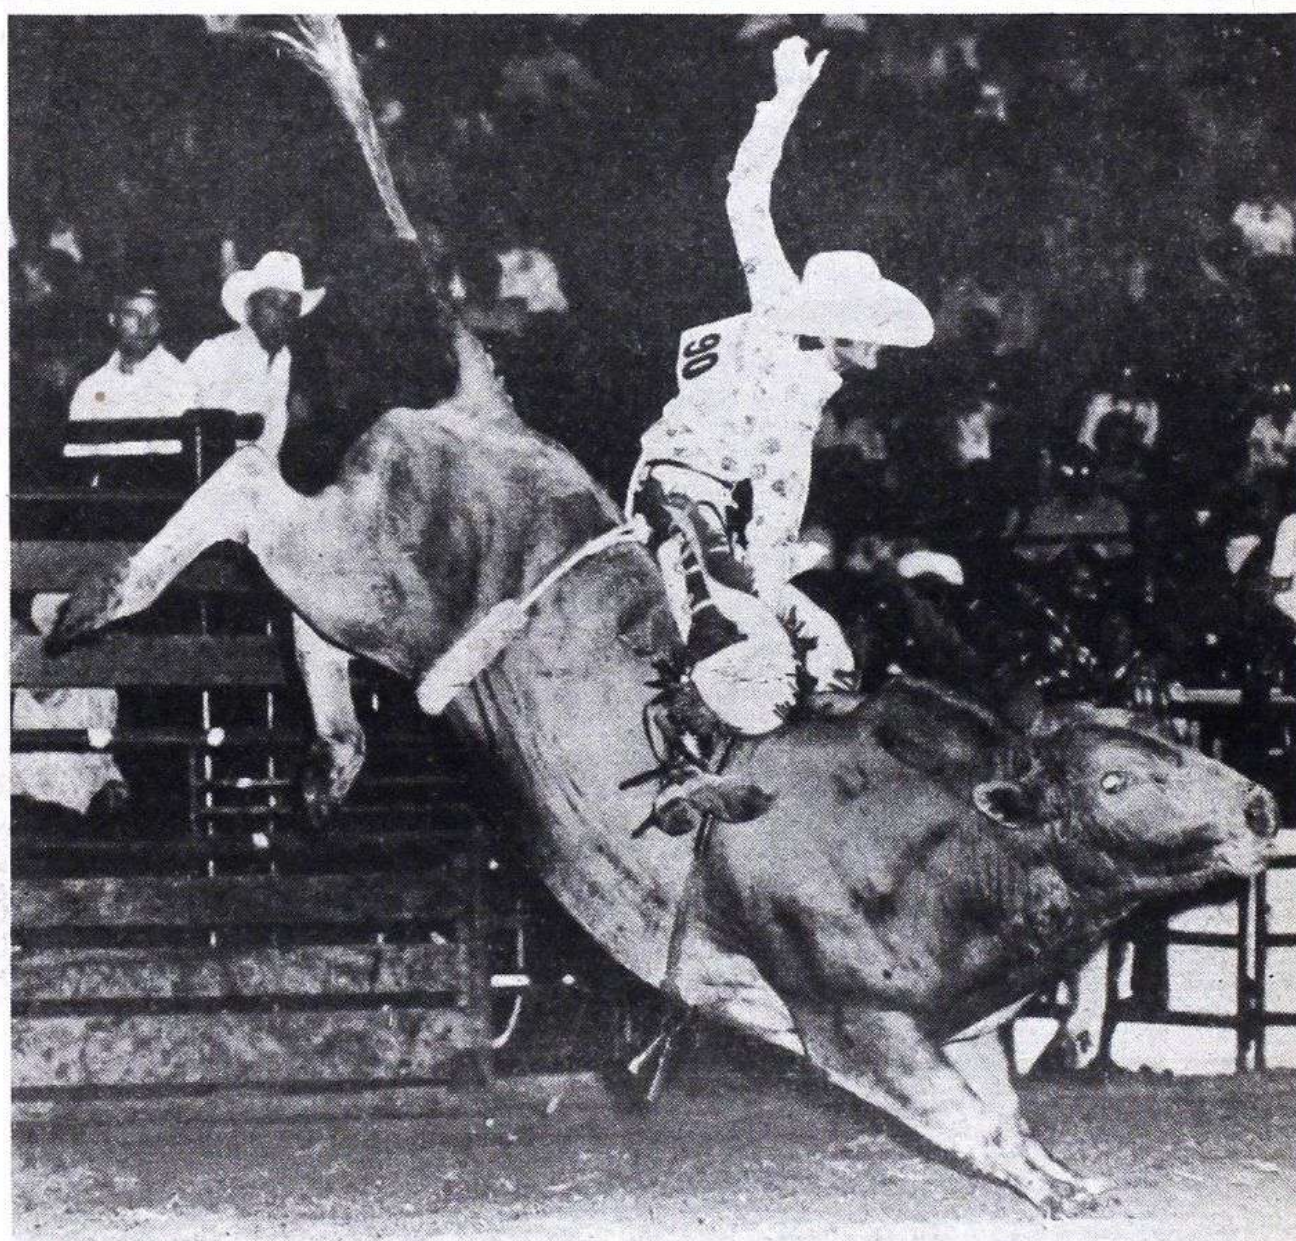

A Standard (judged) Flower Show, exhibition arrangements and horticultural exhibits will be presented by the Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan, with special exhibits from Michigan State University, University of Michigan and various horticultural groups and growers in the state.

The main exhibit area will be a huge 240-by-60-foot tented "Marquee." A second tent, named the "Porcupine Bistro" after the favorite establishment frequented by Brahms in the 1800s, will offer food and refreshments. The house and playhouse will be used for floral arrangements and special events.

There will be an auction of celebrity items (including a drawing by Dorati), boutiques, information booths, visiting celebrities, and free off-premise parking with shuttle service.

There also will be a Flower Arranging Program by renown Dixie Fruendberg from Colorado and a Horticulture Seminar, featuring Don Juchartz and Angie Ratledge, both noted horticulturists with Michigan State Cooperative Extension Service. Music programs, hosted by Frederick Dehaven, feature pianists Fedora Horowitz and Lawrence La Gore, soprano Roma Riddell, and a choral concert featuring Liebeslieder Waltzes.

General admission tickets may be purchased at $10 each. A limited number of house tickets are available for an additional $5. Also, limited tickets for the special musical programs and floral and horticultural seminars are available for $3. Special rates are available for groups of 20 or more. For ticket information, call the DSO office at 961-0700. All proceeds benefit the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

Professional cowboys and cowgirls from across the United States and Canada will be riding and roping for world championship points in the Pontiac Silverdome when the Longhorn World Championship Rodeo's fifth annual "World's Biggest 1-day Rodeo" stampedes on March 30. More than 200 head of livestock will be used for the competition in bareback bronc riding, steer wrestling, saddle bronc riding, cowgirls' barrel racing, calf roping and bull riding. In addition to the competitive events, this year's rodeo will also feature some of the sport's best known contract performers with new acts between contests. Seats for the lower Silverdome level are all reserved for $8 each; the upper level is on a general admission basis at $6 each. Children under 12 years of age will be admitted for half price. Tickets are available at the Silverdome and all J.L. Hudson's stores.

ARIES March 21-April 20

If you have an idea on how to speed matters this week, present them to the proper persons with the confidence you feel. It's a really good week for you to be noticed.

TAURUS April 21-May 21

Your emotions overflow this week, it's a fine opportunity to reaffirm your feelings toward love and family. Include friends in a quiet and meaningful weekend.

GEMINI May 22-June 21

Listen to another point of view this week, it's time to let go of ways that are tired and obviously not working! Consider all options carefully before taking any one.

CANCER June 22-July 23

You hear from people you never expected to hear from this week. Be congenial and friendly, let them distract you from any minor problems. This weekend is good for ironing out problems.

LEO July 24-August 23

You can express dignity and confidence without forcing an opinion. You usually know when to stop, but this week you may have to rely on another to tell you.

VIRGO August 24-Sept. 23

You have a good week in store if you use your head and don't let other people's ideas of limits stop you! A problem arises during the middle of the week, settle it at once.

LIBRA Sept. 24-Oct. 23

The lines of communication open wide for you this week. Use them to expedite matters that are taking far too long to settle! Spend weekend going over past decisions.

SCORPIO Oct. 24-Nov. 22

Your love life is highlighted throughout this week. This is no time to be so honest that someone is hurt when it's possible to spare feelings. A quiet weekend is deserved.

SAGITTARIUS Nov. 23-Dec. 21

Pay more attention to matters at hand this week rather than expanding, or trying to expand on matters over a distance. Keep yourself up to date on the feelings of those at home.

CAPRICORN Dec. 22-Jan. 20

Take time out from work to pay attention to the seemingly insignificant details that are of interest to others. Don't become so involved with work that the human factor is missing.

AQUARIUS Jan 21-Feb. 19

News this week about an attempt at higher ambition is probably discouraging. Listen to those who know you and care. Try again! You're not a quitter, don't start bad habits now.

PISCES Feb. 20-March 20

If you look for trouble this week it's easy to find. Don't put a lot of importance in simple words, examine people's past performance and dedication to you before jumping to conclusions.

Capitol Coney Island:

There's more to it than just chili

The rumbling mufflers of the idling trucks could have signified meone's motor pool, it it was not.

The trucks lining the parking lot could have been waiting for a signal action, but they were t.

Rather, the trucks d cars alike, parked hind the small estland restaurant, mified one of those od inside "places to t, known to its' gulars" as ... The pitol Coney Island. The Westland staurant is so well own by many of its gulars that owner Joe nceveski frequently s a nice piping hot eakfast ready and iting for his stomers before they en walk through the ors at 35495 Ford ad.

"We have these ople who always me in, and always der the same thing," nceveski said. "It's ally funny because we n have their breakfast ade for them." That special service, ong with fine food, obably is the main edient in his secret ipe for his success. terestingly enough, e is at the same ation three other ners were forced to andon.

The corner of Wayne ad and Ford has been od to Joe and brother ve, natives of a small goslavia town — tevo — who arrived in United States in 2. While working for a isin in the restaurant iness, Joe, a college dent in his native ntry with three ars into the books, ide the decision to ture off into the staurant business himself. And in 1975, the Capitol Coney Island was born.

"I guess there really isn't anything wrong with calling this place a coney island," said Jancevski, "because we do serve coney. But, we also have a complete menu ranging from fine steaks to a good hot bowl of chili."

There's more than chili, though.

This remodeled restaurant seating 60 is clean and bright with comfortable booths lining the walls opposite the hot tables and grills.

The menu is complete from chicken dinners to Greek specialties made each day. And prices are pleasantly within a reasonable range, from $1.89 for a breakfast special to $7.95 for a steak dinner.

On this evening, the reviewer, chose the steak sandwich, bowl of chili, cole slaw, onion rings, chefs salad, coney dog, and hot coffee to adequately sample Jancevski fare. For desert, a hot fudge sundae and black walnut cake were added.

The food is excellent. The reviewer's guest for the evening thought the coney to be the best, and cole slaw the best in weeks.

The steak sandwich was cooked to specifications and delicious, as was the rest of the ordered goodies.

After dinner came the hot fudge and cake. And while it would probably be difficult to spoil a hot fudge, the cake was absolutely fantastic.

During the evening, the reviewer and his guest discussed the rating for the Capitol. And given that five stars is the tops, the Capitol Coney Island rated three.

The two additional stars were not awarded because Jancevski has some expansion plans that we'd like to see, and we'd like to have him reach for the stars ... the two remaining that is.

But if you're looking for a good place to eat, sans frills, with good food and friendly folk anxious to please, visit the Capitol Coney Island.

Martina Navratilova talks about tennis

Wimbledon champion Martina Navratilova, who will compete in the nationally televised Clairol Crown on Saturday, March 29, and Sunday, March 30 (check local listings for time and station), said recently that, "The depth on the women's tour is so strong that I don't think anyone can dominate. I don't know anyone who can."

Perhaps Martina was just being modest, but if anyone can at least come close to dominating, it is she.

In 1979, she won her second consecutive Wimbledon title, again beating Chris Evert Lloyd in the finals; four winter tournaments and the Winter Tour Championship; five additional tournaments and $618,698, according to the Women's Tennis Association, in prize money. She was the consensus choice for the No. 1 ranking and dispelled any doubts by smashing Tracy Austin, 6-1, 6-1 in January in the final of an event in Landover, Md., and again beating Miss Austin, 6-2, 6-0, in the final of a tournament in mid-February in Los Angeles. The second Austin trouncing was Navratilova's 19th straight match victory of 1980.

Talking about her rise to No. 1, Martina said, "In Czechoslovakia (from where she defected in 1975), they told me they didn't care if I was No. 20 or No. 1, they just wanted me to behave myself. I always wanted to be the best one. The drive is still the same. I want to be the best and I want to be recognized as the best. I always knew I was a better athlete than most of them, that there was more talent, potential in my game. I thought it might take longer to develop."

"Two years ago, I thought I was playing the best tennis of my life. I thought, 'Oh my God, could I be peaking now? Could this be it?' Now I know I can still get better."

"When you're going up, you don't have any pressure on you but you don't know if you can do it. When you get there, there are all those people grabbing at you."

Martina prefers it the second way.

Copland's 'Spring' is featured

The Ann Arbor Chamber Orchestra, conducted by Music Director F. Carl Daehler, will present its fourth subscription Symphony Concert at 3 p.m. Sunday at the Michigan Theatre, Liberty at Maynard.

Featured work on the program, Aaron Copland's "Appalachian Spring", will be presented in the original chamber orchestra version, composed for dancer Martha Graham in 1944.

Principal string and wind players from the Ann Arbor Chamber Orchestra will be featured as soloists. Jill Rowley, violin and Margaret Lang, viola, will perform Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart's Sinfonia Concertante in E-flat, K. 364. Magdalen Heilbronn, violin and Ellen Sudia, oboe will perform Johann Sebastian Bach's Concerto in D minor. The orchestra will conclude the concert with Franz Joseph Haydn's Symphony No. 22 in E-flat, "The Philosopher".

Copland's "Appalachian Spring" was composed in 1943-1944 for the prestigious Martha Graham Dance Company on a commission from the Elizabeth Sprague Coolidge Foundation. It was first performed at the Library of Congress on Oct. 30, 1944. The suite will be presented by the Ann Arbor Chamber Orchestra in the original 13-instrument version.

"Appalachian Spring" was composed as a ballet in one act and, in the words of the composer, tells the story of a "pioneer celebration in spring around a newly built farmhouse in the Pennsylvania Hills in the early 1800s."

The work describes the joys and emotions of a pioneer bride-to-be and the young farmer-husband in their new home. Festive dance music and prayers of thanksgiving including the beloved melody, "Simple Gifts" highlight this Pulitzer Prize winning composition.

Johann Sebastian Bach's Concerto for Violin and Oboe in D minor, BWV 1060 is certainly one of his best known compositions. The haunting Adagio movement contains one of the most beautiful melodies ever written. Written during Bach's Leipzig period, this concerto demonstrates the finest lyrical and contrapuntal Baroque style.

The Sinfonia Concertante for Violin and Viola by Mozart was composed in 1779 when the composer was 24 years old. The work might have been written for Mozart to play himself since he was an excellent violinist. This concerto-symphony, known for its grandeur and dignity, blends the idea of a full scale classical symphony with the time-tested methods of the Baroque concerto grosso. The solo violin and viola, each demonstrating its own dazzling technical display, remain in balance throughout the piece, presenting both beautiful melodies and eloquent classical wit and charm.

Intermission music in the theatre lobby will be performed by Nancy Waring, flute and Michael Casher, classical guitar. Food and beverages will be available for purchase.

Reserved seats are $6; student and senior citizen tickets are $3, available only at the theatre box office. Tickets may be reserved by calling 996-0066. Box office hours are 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and 12 noon to 3 p.m. Sunday.

ASK ME ABOUT TV

By VAL CAREW

GETTING THERE — How old is Charles Bronson? My friend says he is in his 60s, but after seeing him in films I can't believe that. We have a bet on this. — Ben Stetson, Wapwallapen, Pa.

Bronson is not in his 60s, but he is as close as you can get. He was born in Scoop-town, Pa. in 1921, which makes him 59 this year. That's according to the World Almanac.

KNOWING THE ANSWER — What are the real names of Robert Redford, Paul Newman, Steve McQueen and James Caan? How old are they? — Jeff Wagner, Campbell, Calif.

Their real names are the same as their stage names. In descending order of age, Newman is 55 this year, McQueen, 50, Redford, 44 and Caan is 42.

INITIAL REPLY — On the show, "Emergency," two of the doctors have the initials F.A.C.S. after their name. What do the initials stand for? Our local hospitals were unable to tell me. One doctor said that, based on the show and the high cost of medicine, it could stand for Fanatical and Costly Surgeons, but probably doesn't. — Mike Stocanoff, Great Falls, Mont.

The doctor was right, that's not what it stands for, but it is funny. The initials mean Fellow of the American College of Surgeons.

PERMANENT FILES — Years ago Mary Martin starred in a TV production of "Peter Pan." Where are the reruns? Are there any plans to show it again on TV? My children would love to see it. — Nancy Peters, Muskegon, Mich.

No, that show has disappeared permanently. Generally speaking, there is a contractual limit to the number of reruns possible, and the show was shown more than once. It was a delight, and I would love to see it again. Mary Martin was the best Peter Pan I ever saw — or would want to see — and the music was endearing and catchy. It remains a good memory.
